Constructing Legal Systems European Union In Legal Theory:

Constructing Legal Systems: "European Union" in Legal Theory N. MacCormick, 2013-06-29 Legal theory has been much occupied with understanding legal systems and analysing the concept of legal system This has usually been done on the tacit or explicit assumption that legal systems and states are co terminous But since the Rome Treaty there has grown up in Europe a new legal order neither national law nor international law and under its sway older conceptions of state sovereignty have been rendered obsolete At the same time it has been doubted whether the European Union that has grown out of the original European Communities has a satisfactory constitution or any constitution at all What kind of legal and political entity is this Union and how does it relate juridically and politically to its member states Further the activity of construing or constructing legal system and legal knowledge becomes visibly problematic in this context These essays wrestle with the above problems

Constructing the European Community Legal System from the Ground Up Walter Mattli, Anne-Marie Slaughter, 1996

The Evolution of EU Law Paul P. Craig, Gráinne De Búrca, 1999 The European Community has been in existence for 40 years This period has seen considerable change and development in both the institutional and the substantive law of the EC and more recently the EU This work seeks to stand back from the ever growing detail of Community law and examine this jurisprudence from an evolutionary and interdisciplinary perspective Every important area of institutional and substantive European law is covered leading lawyers analyze the evolution of their area of expertise across time bringing out the major thematic changes which have occurred These changes are then viewed against the broader political and economic background of the community as a whole
