A First Of Metalwork:

First Lessons in Metal-working Alfred George Compton,1890 Bronze Age Metalwork: Techniques and traditions in the Nordic Bronze Age 1500-1100 BC Heide W. Nørgaard,2018-10-19 Bronze ornaments of the Nordic Bronze Age were elaborate objects that served as status symbols to communicate social hierarchy An interdisciplinary investigation of the artefacts dating from 1500 1100 BC was adopted to elucidate their manufacture and origin resulting in new insights into metal craft in northern Europe during the Bronze Age A First Book of Metal-work Bernard Cuzner,1931

Metalworking through History Ana M. Lopez,2009-04-30 Metalworking Through History provides a comprehensive historic overview of the subject of metalworking while exploring it within its cultural context It is written from the perspective that the crafting of objects in metal is a unique way of understanding a particular time and culture As a broad encyclopedia of metalworking it allows the reader to view the different societies and periods that produced work in this medium as part of a global interrelated practice Comprised of over sixty entries on relevant time periods cultures makers and processes the book is a much needed general reference text in the survey of this craft The subjects span all the major metalworking periods and peoples from the rituals of African iron smelting to the twentieth century studio movement Outstanding individual makers are highlighted to give additional insight into the times at which they were active Furthermore the materials and techniques used in the act of metalworking are clearly explained in terms that are easily understood by a practitioner with tacit knowledge of the medium Suggested further readings and cross references allow for the expansion of research and additional study It is an excellent first resource for understanding the concepts and terminology of the ancient and pervasive craft of metalworking Volume includes eight pages of color plates and black and white photos throughout Metalworking Through History provides a comprehensive historic overview of the subject of metalworking while exploring it within its cultural context It is written from the perspective that the crafting of objects in metal is a unique way of understanding a particular time and culture As a broad encyclopedia of metalworking it allows the reader to view the different societies and periods that produced work in this medium as part of a global interrelated practice Comprised of over sixty entries on relevant time periods cultures makers and processes the book is a much needed general reference text in the survey of this craft The subjects span all the major metalworking periods and peoples from the rituals of African iron smelting to the twentieth century studio movement Outstanding individual makers are highlighted to give additional insight into the times at which they were active Furthermore the materials and techniques used in the act of metalworking are clearly explained in terms that are easily understood by a practitioner with tacit knowledge of the medium Suggested further readings and cross references allow for the expansion of research and additional study It is an excellent first resource for understanding the concepts and terminology of the ancient and pervasive craft of metalworking Volume includes eight pages of color plates and black and white photos throughout Art Deco Marianne Brandt Chinese Dark Ages

H. G. Kuijpers, 2008 Almost fifty years ago J J Butler started his research to trace the possible remains of a Bronze Age metalworker's workshop in the Netherlands Yet while metalworking has been deduced on the ground of the existence of regional types of axes and some scarce finds related to metalworking the smith's workplace has remained elusive In this Research Master Thesis I have tried to tackle this problem I have considered both the social as well as the technological aspects of metalworking to be able to determine conclusively whether metalworking took place in the Netherlands or not The first part of the thesis revolves around the social position of the smith and the social organization of metalworking My approach entails a re-evaluation of the current theories on metalworking which I believe to be unfounded and one-sided They tend to disregard production of everyday objects of which the most prominent example is the axe The second part deals with the technological aspects of metalworking and how these processes are manifested in the archaeological record Based on evidence from archaeological sites elsewhere in Europe and with the aid of experimental archaeology a metalworking toolkit is constructed Finally a method is presented which might help archaeologists recognize the workplace of a Bronze Age smith Establishing and Operating a Metal Working Shop William Henry Myer, William Lloyd Beck, 1945 Metal-work Hugh Murray Adam, James Humphrey Evans, 1926 Minutes of Proceedings London (England).
