A Game Of Consequences:

A Game of Consequences Albert Kinross,1896 The Internet as a Game Jill Anne Morris,2018-08-14 In THE INTERNET AS A GAME Jill Anne Morris proposes that by defining internet arguments as games we can analyze ad hominem and ad baculum arguments coming from online mobs and trolls using procedural rhetoric Building upon and extending Ian Bogost s definition of procedural rhetoric and Jesper Juul s definition of games Morris extends the usage of the term into human systems and groups that have proceduralized their arguments online By studying the development of online adhocracies such as 4Chan Anonymous and even Reddit during their early development roughly 2006 to 2014 Morris shows how these groups have proceduralized rhetoric so that thousands of group members can speak with a single voice and singular name that they call anonymous Morris examines these techniques to reveal their function and purpose as rhetoric Understanding how internet arguments work can also positively affect pedagogy especially now as social media and memes have been used to influence national elections our views of the news and our views of each other Can we continue to teach only traditional rhetoric in classrooms when students will face arhetorical tropes and logic in their personal and professional lives THE INTERNET AS A GAME shows why the stakes are high and the answer to this question is no Storyplaying Sebastian Domsch,2013-08-28 Incontestably Future Narratives are most conspicuous in video games they combine narrative with the major element of all games agency The persons who perceive these narratives are not simply readers or spectators but active agents with a range of choices at their disposal that will influence the very narrative they are experiencing they are players The narratives thus created are realizations of the multiple possibilities contained in the present of any given gameplay situation Surveying the latest trends in the field the volume discusses the complex relationship of narrative and gameplay
