Beer in East Asia Paul Chambers,Nithi Nuangjamnong,2023-03-17 Chambers Nuangjamnong and their contributors look at how the development of the beer industry in East Asia presents a unique opportunity for understanding the region s political economy Asia is both the world s largest beer consuming and beer producing region and the fastest growing beer market Per capita consumption is lower than Europe but catching up fast Beer consumption is also widely understood to correlate closely with economic growth and urbanization much more so than other alcoholic beverages like spirits With ten country case studies from both Northeast and Southeast Asia the contributors to this volume look at the history of beer production and consumption across East Asia through a lens of historical institutionalism and political economy In doing so they not only examine the development of the beer industry in the region but also what it tells us about the countries themselves They ask questions such as To what extent have state versus societal actors influenced the path of beer production How has beer production changed Was there a critical juncture at which beer production abruptly changed course A valuable resource for students and scholars of modern East Asian History and particularly those with a focus on colonial history industrial history and state society relations

Bank Politics David Howarth,Scott James,2022-11-03 The problem of banks being too big to fail was the defining regulatory issue of the global financial crisis However attempts to tackle the problem by separating retail banking from higher risk trading activities known as structural reform proved to be highly divisive and contributed to significant regulatory divergence In this book David Howarth and Scott James explain this variation by examining the politics of bank structural reform across six key jurisdictions the United States the European Union the United Kingdom France Germany and the Netherlands Integrating political economy and public policy approaches they develop a novel comparative financial power framework to analyse how financial industry influence is mediated by two factors first whether bank lobbying is unified and centralized cooperative financial power or divided and fragmented competitive financial power and second policy makers use of venue shifting to depoliticize contentious policy issues The book explains that the US and UK governments implemented major reforms because the banking industry was divided and faced significant opposition However venue shifting to an independent committee led to durable reform in the UK while political polarization in the US contributed to contested reform By contrast the French and German governments balanced unified bank lobbying and political pressures to act by pursuing limited symbolic reforms the Dutch government deflected the issue through delegation to multiple commissions no reform while political stalemate at the EU level resulted from early venue shifting and concerted pan European bank lobbying The book makes a major contribution to scholarship on the political economy of finance and business power
