Projections of Passing N. Megan Kelley, 2016-04-04 A key concern in postwar America was who's passing for whom Analyzing representations of passing in Hollywood films reveals changing cultural ideas about authenticity and identity in a country reeling from a hot war and moving towards a cold one After World War II passing became an important theme in Hollywood movies one that lasted throughout the long 1950s as it became a metaphor to express postwar anxiety The potent imagined fear of passing linked the language and anxieties of identity to other postwar concerns including cultural obsessions about threats from within Passing created an epistemological conundrum that threatened to destabilize all forms of identity not just the longstanding American color line separating white and black In the imaginative fears of postwar America identity was under siege on all fronts Not only were there blacks passing as whites but women were passing as men gays passing as straight communists passing as good Americans Jews passing as gentiles and even aliens passing as humans and vice versa Fears about communist infiltration invasion by aliens collapsing gender and sexual categories racial ambiguity and miscegenation made their way into films that featured narratives about passing N Megan Kelley shows that these films transcend genre discussing Gentleman s Agreement Home of the Brave Pinky Island in the Sun My Son John Invasion of the Body Snatchers I Married a Monster from Outer Space Rebel without a Cause Vertigo All about Eve and Johnny Guitar among others Representations of passing enabled Americans to express anxieties about who they were and who they imagined their neighbors to be By showing how pervasive the anxiety about passing was and how it extended to virtually every facet of identity Projections of Passing broadens the literature on passing in a fundamental way It also opens up important counter narratives about postwar America and how the language of identity developed in this critical period of American history

Alternate Americas M. Keith Booker, 2006-02-28 For more than 50 years science fiction films have been among the most important and successful products of American cinema and are worthy of study for that reason alone On a deeper level the genre has reflected important themes concerns and developments in American society so that a history of science fiction film also serves as a cultural history of America over the past half century M Keith Booker has selected fifteen of the most successful and innovative science fiction films of all time and examined each of them at length from cultural technical and cinematic perspectives to see where they came from and what they meant for the future of cinema and for America at large From Invasion of the Body Snatchers to Star Wars from Blade Runner to The Matrix these landmark films have expressed our fears and dreams our abilities and our deficiencies In this deep seeking investigation we can all find something of ourselves that we recognize as well as something that we ve never recognized before The focus on a fairly small number of landmark films allows detailed attention to genuinely original movies including Forbidden Planet Invasion of the Body Snatchers 2001 A Space Odyssey Planet of the Apes Star Wars Close Encounters of the Third Kind Alien E T the Extra Terrestrial Blade Runner The Terminator Robocop The Abyss Independence Day and The Matrix This book is ideal for general readers interested in science fiction and film
