Intercultural Communicative Competence in English Language Teaching in Polish State Colleges Piotr Romanowski, 2017-05-11 This volume provides a strong theoretical introduction to the field of intercultural communication offering practical examples of classroom activities as well as presenting empirical research which demonstrates that intercultural communicative competence ICC can be developed effectively in specially tailored courses adjusted to the needs of learners. It presents a novel model of intercultural sensitivity assessment and outlines the results of research into intercultural communicative competence conducted among the students of English Language Studies in state colleges in Poland. The cultural component in developing ICC as an extra-linguistic determinant is assigned particular prominence in the book. A thorough analysis of the empirical material collected from participant observation, the administered questionnaires and interviews allowed the most common values and attitudes held as components of intercultural sensitivity to be identified. The obtained findings are subsequently analyzed to predict the potential areas of communication misunderstandings and failures between Polish learners of English and representatives of other cultures. The book is divided into four parts reflecting the main types of lexicography. Part I looks at synchronic dictionaries: those for the general public, monolingual dictionaries for second language learners and bilingual dictionaries. Part II and III are devoted to the distinctive methodologies and concerns of the historical dictionaries and specialist dictionaries respectively, while chapters in Part IV examine specific topics such as description and prescription, the representation of pronunciation and the practicalities of dictionary production.
