"Attic" and Baroque prose style. The Anti-Ciceronian movement. Essays by Morris W. Croll. Edited by J. Max Patrick and Robert O. Evans with John M. Wallace Morris William CROLL,1969 "Attic" and Baroque Prose Style; The Anti-Cicero-Man Movement. Essays by Morris W. Croll, Edited by J. Max Patrick and Robert O. Evans, With John W. Wallace Morris William Croll,John Max Patrick,1969 Robert Burton and the Transformative Powers of Melancholy

Stephanie Shirilan,2016-03-03 Few English books are as widely known underread and underappreciated as Robert Burton's The Anatomy of Melancholy Stephanie Shirilan laments that modern scholars often treat the Anatomy as an unmediated repository of early modern views on melancholy overlooking the fact that Burton is writing a cento an ancient form of satire that quotes and misquotes authoritative texts in often subversive ways and that his express intent in so doing is to offer his readers literary therapy for melancholy This book explores the ways in which the Anatomy dispenses both direct physic and more systemic medicine by encouraging readers to think of melancholy as a privileged mental and spiritual acuity that requires cultivation and management rather than cure Refuting the prevailing historiography of anxious early modern embodiment that cites Burton as a key witness Shirilan submits that the Anatomy rejects contemporary Neostoic and Puritan approaches to melancholy She reads Burton's erraticism opacity and theatricality as modes of resistance against demands for constancy transparency and plainness in the popular literature of spiritual and moral hygiene of his day She shows how Burton draws on rhetorical theological and philosophical traditions that privilege the transformative powers of the imagination in order to celebrate melancholic impressionability for its capacity to inspire and engender empathy charity and faith

Lusheck,2017-08-07 Rubens and the Eloquence of Drawing re-examines the early graphic practice of the preeminent northern Baroque painter Peter Paul Rubens Flemish 1577 1640 in light of early modern traditions of eloquence particularly as promoted in the late sixteenth and early seventeenth century Flemish Neostoic circles of philologist Justus Lipsius 1547 1606 Focusing on the roles that rhetorical and pedagogical considerations played in the artist's approach to disegno during and following his formative Roman period 1600-08 this volume highlights Rubens's high ambitions for the intimate medium of drawing as a primary site for generating meaningful and original ideas for his larger artistic enterprise As in the Lipsian realm of writing personal letters the humanist activity then described as a cognate activity to the practice of drawing a Senecan approach to eclecticism a commitment to emulation and an Aristotelian concern for joining form to content all played important roles Two chapter-long studies of individual drawings serve to demonstrate the relevance of these interdisciplinary rhetorical concerns to Rubens's early practice of drawing Focusing on Rubens's Medea Fleeing with Her Dead Children Los Angeles Getty Museum and Kneeling Man Rotterdam Museum Boijmans Van Beuningen these close-looking case studies demonstrate Rubens's commitments to creating new models of eloquent drawing and to highlighting his own status as an inimitable maker Demonstrating the force and quality of Rubens's intellect in the medium then most associated with the closest ideas of the artist such designs were arguably created as more robust pedagogical and preparatory models that could help strengthen art itself for a new and often troubled age

Classical Rhetoric and the German Poet Anna Carrdus, 2017-12-02 This study relates theory to the details of poetic practice it presents Opitz Burger and Aichendorff as representatives of their times and demonstrates how they adapt the classical arts to their particular talents and beliefs All three poets are shown at work within a tradition flexible enough to persist even into the present The author shows how the influence of rhetoric on German poetry did not vanish in the mid 18th century as is widely supposed The first chapter briefly compares theoretical statements by Martin Opitz and the 20th century poet Peter Rühmkorf it uses the comparison to introduce two main arguments that classical rhetoric and poetics exert a persistent though constantly changing influence on the composition of German poetry and that the theoretical precepts and natural talent are mutually interdependent These arguments are developed through the examination of works by three German poets taken from periods of major literary change Opitz is representative of the Baroque Burger of the Sturm and Drang and Aichendorff of Romanticism Three main chapters reconstruct the working method of each poet applying his own theory and that of near contemporaries to detailed analysis of one or two of his poems This procedure illustrates how each poet adapts rhetorical and poetic traditions to his own personal talent and to the literary preoccupations of his time

Prose Style James R. Bennett, 1972 The Epistemic Music of Rhetoric Steven B. Katz, 1996 Katz English North Carolina State U examines the correlation between Reader Response Criticism and the philosophy of science engendered by the Copenhagen School of New Physics and assesses the scientific empiricism that controls the parameters of reading and writing theory to look at the possibility of teaching reading and writing as rhetorical music He reinterprets Cicero's rhetorical theory in light of recent revisionist scholarship and sketches a temporal model of affective response in reading and writing Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR The New Cambridge Bibliography of English Literature: Volume 2, 1660-1800 George Watson, Ian R. Willison, 1971-07-02 More than fifty specialists have contributed to this new edition of volume 2 of The Cambridge Bibliography of English Literature The design of the original work has established itself so firmly as a workable solution to the immense problems of analysis articulation and coordination that it has been retained in all its essentials for the new edition The task of the new contributors has been to revise and integrate the lists of 1940 and 1957 to add materials of the following decade to correct and refine the bibliographical details already available and to re shape the whole according to a new series of conventions devised to give greater clarity and consistency to the entries The Rise of Modern Prose Style Robert Adolph, 1968 English Prose 1600-1660, 1965 A Dictionary of Literary, Dramatic, and Cinematic Terms Sylvan Barnet, 1987-07 Historical Rhetoric Winifred Bryan Horner, 1980 Scholars' Bedlam W.
