Christopher Carr, 2022-01-05 This book in two volumes breathes fresh air empirically methodologically and theoretically into understanding the rich ceremonial lives the philosophical religious knowledge and the impressive material feats and labor organization that distinguish Hopewell Indians of central Ohio and neighboring regions during the first centuries CE The first volume defines cross culturally for the first time the ritual drama as a genre of social performance It reconstructs and compares parts of 14 such dramas that Hopewellian and other Woodland period peoples performed in their ceremonial centers to help the soul like essences of their deceased make the journey to an afterlife The second volume builds and critiques ten formal cross cultural models of personhood and the self and infers the nature of Scioto Hopewell people's ontology Two facets of their ontology are found to have been instrumental in their creating the intercommunity alliances and cooperation and gathering the labor required to construct their huge multicompany ceremonial centers a relational collective concept of the self defined by the ethical quality of the relationships one has with other beings and a concept of multiple soul like essences that compose a human being and can be harnessed strategically to create familial like ethical bonds of cooperation among individuals and communities The archaeological reconstructions of Hopewellian ritual dramas and concepts of personhood and the self and of Hopewell people s strategic uses of these are informed by three large surveys of historic Woodland and Plains Indians narratives ideas and rites about journeys to afterlives the creatures who inhabit the cosmos and the nature and functions of soul like essences coupled with rich contextual archaeological and bioarchaeological taphonomic analyses The bioarchaeological taphonomic method of l anthropologie de terrain new to North American archaeology is introduced and applied In all the research in this book vitalizes a vision of an anthropology committed to native logic and motivation and skeptical of the imposition of Western world views and categories onto native peoples

Scarlet Experiment Jeffrey Karnicky,2016-11 Emily Dickinson s poem Split the Lark refers to the scarlet experiment by which scientists destroy a bird in order to learn more about it Indeed humans have killed hundreds of millions of birds for science fashion curiosity and myriad other reasons In the United States alone seven species of birds are now extinct and another ninety three are endangered Conversely the U S conservation movement has made bird watching more popular than ever saving countless bird populations and while the history of actual physical human interaction with birds is complicated our long aesthetic and scientific interest in them is undeniable Since the beginning of the modern conservation movement in the mid nineteenth century human understanding of and interaction with birds has changed profoundly In Scarlet Experiment Jeff Karnicky traces the ways in which birds have historically been seen as beautiful creatures worthy of protection and study and yet subject to experiments scientific literary and governmental that have irrevocably altered their relationship with humans This examination of the management of bird life in America from the nineteenth century to today which focuses on six bird species finds that renderings of birds by such authors as Henry David Thoreau Emily Dickinson Don DeLillo and Christopher Cokinos have also influenced public perceptions and actions Scarlet Experiment speculates about the effects our decisions will have on the future of North American bird ecology Beacham's Guide to Environmental Issues & Sources Walton Beacham,1993 Endangered Animals George S.
