Decline Of Iranshahr:

The Decline of Iranshahr Peter Christensen,2015-12-18 The history of the Middle East is traditionally structured around the rise and fall of dynasties and states The widely perceived view is that after the glories of an earlier golden age the region went into a steady and prolonged decline populations decreased ancient cities decayed and nomadism spread at the expense of civilized culture In this pioneering text Peter Christensen challenges this story of decline Long out of print but now reissued with a new introduction by the author this important work is both a foundational text in the environmental history of the Middle East and a pioneering reassessment of traditional ideas about the historical processes of Iran and the Middle East region

Timurids in Transition Maria Subtelny,2007-08-30 How did the the descendants of Tamerlane collectively known as the Timurids make the transition from a nomadic empire to a sedentary polity based on the Perso Islamic model and what effect did the process of transition have on their Turko Mongolian customs and identity This volume seeks to answer these questions by utilizing the Weberian concepts of the routinization of charismatic authority and the patrimonial household state Focusing on the period of the last Timurid ruler Sul n usain Bayqara 1469 1506 the author examines the impact of the introduction of Persian modes of bureaucratic administration on the evolution of Timurid government and describes the development of the agrarian economy of the eastern Iranian province of Khorasan through the Islamic institution of the pious endowment Based on an exceptionally broad range of sources in Persian Arabic and Turkic languages the book provides a new paradigm for understanding the Timurids within the framework of post Mongol history and offers fresh insights into Turko Persian relations and the problem of acculturation in medieval Iran

The Environment and World History Edmund Burke,Kenneth Pomeranz,2009-04-08 In 11 essays the contributors examine the connections between environmental change and other major topics of early modern world history population growth commercialization imperialism industrialization the fossil fuel revolution and more

Land and Trade in Early Islam Hugh Kennedy,Fanny Bessard,2025-01-20 Land and Trade in Early Islam discusses the latest developments in the field of early Islamic economic and social history and explores the notion of polycentrism and the dialectic between global and local between 700 and 1050 CE The volume explores the political mechanisms and the role of Islamic states in regulating and developing demand in the economy The chapters question the binary of core periphery and demonstrate how the growing scholarship on the liminal regions of the Caliphate has transformed our understanding of the early Islamic world by offering a more nuanced picture of its regional urban and socio economic dynamics Changes in the peripheries of the early medieval Caliphate have traditionally been conceived as resulting from initiatives by the core An increased focus on the comparatively under explored regions in central Asia north Africa south east Asia and the Caucasus has thrown this into question Land and Trade in Early Islam draws on this growing body of scholarship to question the notion of peripherality explore lines of economic influence and interdependence and to better understand the regional economic social and political dynamics of this period
