Deep Memory

Bryan Carr and Richard Dumbrill

Deep Memory:

Deep Memory, Exuberant Hope Walter Brueggemann, The leading Old Testament theologian reflects on the meaning of the gospel in today's world. These studies on a variety of biblical texts focus deftly on reading, listening to, and proclaiming the gospel in a broken, fragmented, and post-Christendom world. Brueggemann explores how these traditions have the potential to continually resonate in our contemporary communities and individual lives.

Fantasies of Witnessing Gary Weissman, 2004. Introduction to feel the horror. Reading Wiesel, The Holocaust experience. Shoah illustrated. Steven Spielberg and the sensitive line. Claude Lanzmann and the Ring of Fire. Conclusion: the horror, the horror.

Witnessing the Disaster Michael Bernard-Donals, Richard Glejzer, 2003-12-15. Witnessing the Disaster examines how histories, films, stories, and novels, memorials, and museums, and survivor testimonies involve problems of witnessing: how do those who survived and those who lived long after the Holocaust make clear to us what happened? How can we distinguish between more and less authentic accounts? Are histories more adequate descriptors of the horror than narrative? Does the susceptibility of survivor accounts to faulty memory and the vestiges of trauma make them any more or less useful as instruments of witness? And how do we authenticate their accuracy without giving those who deny the Holocaust a small but dangerous foothold? These essayists aim to move past the notion that the Holocaust as an event defies representation. They look at specific cases of Holocaust representation and consider their effect, their structure, their authenticity, and the kind of knowledge they produce. Taken together, they consider the tension between history and memory, the vexed problem of eyewitness testimony and its status as evidence, and the ethical imperatives of Holocaust representation.
