Deconstruction III New Ed Andreas C. Papadakis, 1995-06-06 Revised in larger format style this issue continues Academy's study of deconstruction and its impact on built architecture Amongst the many architects featured are Zaha Hadid Wolf Prix Arquitectonica Coop Himmelblau Morphosis Bernard Tschumi whose work continues to remain prominent in the field of deconstruction and Mark Wigley who assesses the development of deconstruction and comments on its future This book also looks at the impact of architectural competitions which have played a major role in encouraging the work of major movement Jacques Derrida Leonard Lawlor, Zeynep Direk, 2002 These three volumes assemble the most important essays written on Jacques Derrida's philosophy since he became established in 1967 These volumes make well known essays easily available and also present many essays never translated in English Jacques Derrida (Routledge Revivals) William Schultz, Lewis L.B. Fried, 2016-06-17 First published in 1992 this book represents the first major attempt to compile a bibliography of Derrida's work and scholarship about his work It attempts to be comprehensive rather than selective listing primary and secondary works from the year of Derrida's Master's thesis in 1954 up until 1991 and is extensively annotated It arranges under article type a huge number of works from scholars across numerous fields reflecting the interdisciplinary and controversial nature of Deconstruction The substantial introduction and annotations also make this bibliography in part a critical guide and as such will make a highly useful reference tool for those studying his philosophy In Search of Authority - Third Edition Stephen Bonnycastle, 2007-04-26 In Search of Authority is the most engaging introduction to literary theory available today This is the third edition of a book that has been widely used to introduce undergraduates to the field of literary theory Its distinctive quality is the way in which it makes complex literary theories such as structuralism deconstruction and post modernism accessible to students by relating these theories to students own enjoyment in reading literature Each theory is illustrated by several applications of the theory to well known literary works Based on a reader response approach to literature In Search of Authority begins with an up to date account of the status of literary theory in the 21st century including a response to recent debates about the post theory question It concludes with a discussion of how an understanding of literary theory can lead to the empowerment of the individual reader and of how the authority of the professor can be gradually transferred to the student This third edition has been revised and updated throughout Each chapter ends with several questions to help students check their understanding of the key ideas in the chapter Derrida on Being as Presence David A. White, 2017-04-24 Jacques Derrida's extensive early writings devoted considerable attention to being as presence the reality underlying the history of metaphysics In Derrida on Being as Presence Questions and Quests David A White develops the intricate conceptual structure of this notion by close exegetical readings drawn from these writings White discusses cardinal concepts in Derrida's revamping of theoretical considerations pertaining to language signification context negation iterability as these considerations depend on the structure of being as presence and also as they ground deconstructive reading White's appraisal raises questions invoking a range of problems He deploys these questions in conjunction with thematically related quests that arise given Derrida's conviction that the history of metaphysics as variations on being as presence has concealed and skewed vital elements of reality White inflects this critical apparatus concerning being as presence with texts drawn from that history e.g. by Plato Aristotle Bacon Hume Kant Whitehead The essay concludes with a speculative ensemble of provisional categories or zones of specificity Implementing these categories will ground the possibility that philosophy in general and metaphysics in particular can be pursued in ways which acknowledge the relevance of Derrida's thought when integrated with the philosophical enterprise as traditionally understood

Multiform Owen Hopkins, Erin McKellar, 2021-02-23 Guest edited by Owen Hopkins and Erin McKellar Our current moment is one of profound political and economic change Historically these moments of transition have seen a parallel period of cultural and notably architectural flux In the late 1970s this was manifested in Postmodernism Today a number of architects are looking again at this movement and redeploying a range of its tactics and approaches using contemporary methods and techniques These include different modes of collage formal reference and quotation stylistic eclecticism symbolism in form material and ornament and the bold expressive use of colour both natural and synthetic While the design that results from these multiform tactics and approaches has been seen as a kind of neo Postmodernism this issue argues that this is a simplistic and superficial reading Instead it posits this phenomenon as the architectural attempt both conscious and unconscious to reflect grapple with and make sense of the current political and economic transition and the backdrop of the climate emergency Rather than responding to this situation by attempting to marshal architecture around a single unifying narrative this issue makes the case for the transformative possibilities offered by an approach that is ad hoc eclectic and pluralist Contributors Mat Barnes Jennifer Bonner Graham Burn James Crawford and Alexander Turner Mario Carpo David Knight and Cristina Monteiro David Kohn Stephen Parnell Lera Samovich Geoff Shearcroft Dirk Somers Catrina Stewart and Hugh McEwen L a Catherine Szacka and Amin Taha Featured architects AOC Architecture Bovenbouw Architectuur CAN Groupwork David Kohn Architects DK CM Fala Atelier MALL Studio MUTT Office S M Walala Studio Yinka Ilori Studio

In Search of Authority, second edition Stephen Bonnycastle, 1996-01-31 The Projective Cast Robin Evans, 2000-08-25 Robin Evans recasts the idea of the relationship between geometry and architecture drawing on mathematics engineering art history and aesthetics to uncover processes in the imagining and realizing of architectural form Anyone reviewing the history of architectural theory Robin Evans observes would have to conclude that architects do not produce geometry but rather consume it In this long awaited book completed shortly before its author's death Evans recasts the idea of the relationship between geometry and architecture drawing on mathematics engineering art history and aesthetics to uncover processes in the imagining and realizing of architectural form He shows that geometry does not always play a stolid and dormant role but in fact may be an active agent in the links between thinking and imagination imagination and drawing drawing and building He suggests a theory of architecture that is based on the many transactions between architecture and geometry as evidenced in individual buildings largely in Europe from the fifteenth to the twentieth century From the Henry VII chapel at Westminster Abbey to Le Corbusier's Ronchamp from Raphael's St Eligio and the work of Piero della Francesca and Philibert Delorme to Guarino Guarini and the painters of cubism Evans explores the geometries involved asking whether they are in fact the stable underpinnings of the creative intuitive or rhetorical aspects of architecture In particular he concentrates on the history of architectural projection the geometry of vision that has become an internalized and pervasive pictorial method of construction and that until now has played only a small part in the development of architectural theory Evans describes the ambivalent role that pictures play in architecture and urges resistance to the idea that pictures provide all that architects need suggesting that there is much more within the scope of the architect's vision of a project than what can be drawn He defines the different fields of projective transmission that concern architecture and investigates the ambiguities of projection and the interaction of imagination with projection and its metaphors
