A Murder of Crows Larry D. Thomas, 2011 In A Murder of Crows Larry D. Thomas has artfully assembled decades of his writing about birds into a single volume of poetry. Thomas divides the collection into four sections. The first With Concentrated Grit begins with a sparrow that hops easily its height and quietly explodes into flight flaunting for a moment its earth tone browns and grays. It ranges through a whole aviary from sparrows and pigeons the urban version of the buzzard to yellow rumped warblers house finches and an old blue jay arrogant as a late Picasso raging beneath a blanket at an auction. Section two Eyeing the Gulf begins with the mad weightless dash of a sanderling chick's life and continues through herons that could be outgrowths of the river itself through laughing gulls in rowdy reverence through a whole range of seabirds. The third section Deft at Tearing Out Hearts begins with the eagle for whom everything that moves is potential prey and follows a trajectory of violence that includes the hawk preying for rain in Presidio whose only water was the blood of his prey and the falcon praying his scarlet prayer of devourment. The crow the heart and soul of the collection is the subject of the final section which shares its title A Murder of Crows with the whole. History reeks. Thomas writes with the ineradicable blackness of the crow's ink. His crow poems speak to the crow as metaphor for thousands of years you've charged our psyches forging the dark iron of your being into symbols of life death and the scales of justice. Thomas offers the reader a primeval poetic force appropriate to the terror of our times revealing as we breathe the ravenous reeking psyche of our kind a fitting tribute to the author of Crow Ted Hughes whose work Thomas has long admired and to whose memory the collection is dedicated.
