The Challenge of Stability and Security in West Africa Alexandre Marc,Neelam Verjee,Stephen Mogaka,2015-06-19 Since independence the West African sub region has been an arena for a number of large scale conflicts and civil wars as well as simmering and low intensity uprisings Contrary to perceptions West Africa in its post independence history has experienced fewer conflict events and fatalities from conflict than the other sub regions on the continent The turn of the millennium has witnessed the recession of large scale and conventional conflict and it has ushered in new and emerging threats The specters of religious extremism maritime piracy and narcotics trafficking threaten to undermine some of the progress achieved in recent years The Challenge of Stability and Security in West Africa critically examines the key drivers of conflict and violence and the way in which they impact the countries of the sub region In addition to emerging threats these drivers include the challenges of youth inclusion migration sub regional imbalances and extractives as well as challenges related to the fragility of political institutions and managing the competition for power reform of the security sector and weakness of institutions related to land management The book explores how the sub region under the auspices of the regional organization ECOWAS has become a pioneer on the continent in terms of addressing regional challenges The Challenge of Stability and Security in West Africa also identifies key lessons in the dynamics of resilience in the face of political violence and civil war drawn from Cote d'Ivoire Liberia and Sierra Leone that can be useful for countries around the world in similar situations It incorporates knowledge and findings from leading experts and provides insights from academics and development practitioners Finally the book identifies possible policy and programmatic responses and directions for policy dialogue at the national and international levels

Policy-Making in the GCC Neil Quilliam,Mark C. Thompson,2017-09-11 The GCC is a major player in the post 2011 reordering of the Middle East Despite the rise in prominence of individual Gulf states especially Kuwait Qatar Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates and the growth of the GCC as a collective entity surprisingly little attention has been paid to the actual mechanics of policy making in the region This book analyses the vital role that institutions are coming to play in shaping policy in the Gulf Arab states The research coincides with two key developments that have given institutions new importance in the policy process the emergence of a new generation of leaders in the Gulf and the era of low oil prices Both developments along with dramatic demographic change have compelled state and citizens to re evaluate the nature of the social contract that binds them together Contributors assess the changing relationship between state and citizen and evaluate the role that formal and informal institutions play in mediating such change and informing policy The book shows how academic social and economic institutions are responding to the increasingly complex process of decision making where citizens demand better services and further empowerment and states are obliged to seek wider counsel although wanting to retain ultimate authority With contributions from both academics and practitioners this book will be highly relevant for researchers and policymakers alike Corruption and the Crisis of Institutional Reforms in Africa John Mukum Mbaku,1998 This study contains a mixture of analytical ideas and views and recommends reconstruction of the neo colonial state as an effective way to deal with this pervasive institution It examines corruption from a public choice perspective and part of the book deals specifically with Nigeria The Role of African Universities in the Attainment of the Millennium Development Goals ,2006
