Health Behavior Change and Treatment Adherence Leslie Martin, Kelly Haskard-Zolnierok, M. Robin DiMatteo, 2010-01-05 Relationships jobs and health behaviors these are what New Year s resolutions are made of Every year millions resolve to adopt a better diet exercise more become fit or lose weight but few put into practice the health behaviors they aspire to For those who successfully begin the likelihood that they will maintain these habits is low Healthcare professionals recognize the importance of these and other health behaviors but struggle to provide their patients with the tools necessary for successful maintenance of their medical regimens The thousands of research papers that exist on patient adherence and health behavior change can leave professionals overwhelmed This book synthesizes the results from more than 50 years of empirical research resulting in simple powerful and practical guidance for health professionals who want to know the most effective strategies for helping their clients to put long term health relevant behavior changes into practice It advocates a straightforward 3 ingredient model Before a person can change they must 1 know what change is necessary information 2 desire the change motivation and then 3 have the tools to achieve and maintain the change strategy This book is designed to be informative and compelling but its numerous anecdotes and examples render it engaging and entertaining as well. Written for practitioners and students of medicine, chiropractic, osteopathy, nursing, health education, physician assistant programs, dentistry, clinical and health psychology, marriage and family counseling, social work, school psychology, and care administrators, and for lay persons who wish to take an active role in their health, this book brings together major empirically based findings within the field and provides succinct evidence-based recommendations and strategies for using these findings to make real changes. American Book Publishing Record, 2002. Journal of the American Medical Association, 1913.
