INTRODUCTION The reflection of Home science textback to ancient days when special education on all aspects of life was given to girls for managing harmonious home and family life till formal education for girls in this direction was introduced by Madras mission school in 1915 The girls were educated on aspects like taking good care of children supplying nutritious food to family building health of family and managing their homes This was the initiation of the concept of Home science through the education was not formally named as home science. Efforts were continued to make this education meaningful and suitable to the life of a girl who got married in her early teens. Later, in the early 90s, we witness the boost of special education for girls called home science education. The stepping stone in this direction was the introduction of Home Science subject in 1927 by educational planners at the All India Women's Conference. The society recognised this education as a symbol of high status and the parents got encouraged to send their daughters for home science education. This was further supported by the National Freedom Movement in the thirties and forties of the 19th century when equality of women was sought in all aspects of their expanded role in home and development of the nation. Even the Sargent Committee in 1944 highly acknowledged the importance of Home Science as a subject in schools for girls. The Psychological Clinic Lightner Witmer, 1930 Vols 1-12 include sections on Reviews and criticism.

Problems of Discipline in the Home Kasmini Kassim, 1993. Adverse family interaction patterns and problems associated with disciplines are the major contributing factors to poor personality development of the child. Personal Power William Le Roy Stidger, 1929. School and Home, 1922.
