

UNDERSTANDING School Exclusions

Our researchers have been exploring exclusions in Scottish secondary schools, examining the variation across schools and council areas, and the effects of demographic and socioeconomic characteristics of the pupils.

FINDING 1

The likelihood of being excluded from school can vary significantly, depending which school and council area the child is in.

FINDING 2

Young people at greatest risk of exclusion in secondary school are those who have also been excluded in primary school.

Young people who have been assessed as

- having a disability, or
- are care-experienced, or
- come from the most deprived areas or
- pupils who have been eligible for free school meals at least once are at a higher risk of exclusion.

FINDING 4

Peak exclusion period is the third year of secondary school (S3) approx. 4–5%, closely followed by S2. S5 is low (around 1%) and S6 is even lower (less than 1%).

The next stage of our research will explore:

- which school and council area characteristics are most significant in this variation
- the role that pupils' additional support needs play on the propensity towards being excluded
- the effects of family and household characteristics
- individual characteristics such as pupils' own mental health, on the risk of exclusion
