The Canadian National Record for Swine ,1916 The Campo Indian Landfill War Dan McGovern,1995 The Campo Indian Landfill War explores the timely and controversial topic of environmental justice through the story of an Indian tribe's struggle to develop its isolated and impoverished reservation by building a commercial garbage facility to serve the cities of Southern California The environmental justice movement was born out of the conviction that the waste industry has targeted minority communities for facilities it can no longer locate in the backyards of those with greater access to political power The Campo case is therefore an anomaly The tribe is unified in supporting the landfill while the project is opposed by their mostly white neighbors out of concern that it could contaminate the aquifer that is the sole source of drinking water for 400 square miles and thereby render the entire region uninhabitable The environmental justice community including many Indians charges that the waste industry is trying to exploit the poverty of the Campos and other tribes making them offers they can't refuse for projects no one else wants projects no one should want The Campos admit the danger of exploitation but contend that it is paternalistic indeed racist to assume that Indians are not smart enough to protect themselves in dealings with whites or wise enough to guard their reservation environment The American Hereford Record, and Hereford Herd Book ,1920 *Select poems and tragedies, tr.
