Australia In World Affairs:

Australia in World Affairs 2016-2020 Baogang He, Australian Institute of International Affairs, David Hundt, Danielle Chubb, 2024-06-13 The thirteenth volume in the series Australia in World Affairs 2016-2020: A Return to Great Power Rivalry

Australia in World Affairs 2016-2020: Volume 13 Baogang He, David Hundt, Danielle Chubb, 2024-06-13 Between 2016 and 2020 Australia's foreign and security policies were significantly impacted by profound changes in geopolitics and geoeconomics particularly as great power competition re-emerged between the United States and China. Australia in World Affairs 2016-2020: A Return to Great Power Rivalry examines Australia's engagement on the international stage in light of these events. The thirteenth volume in the Australia in World Affairs series builds on the history of Australia's foreign policy covered in other volumes to identify patterns of continuity and change. It catalogues the key developments in this period of world history from an Australian perspective. Organised thematically, chapters cover Australia's foreign policy response to climate change, Australia's strengthened ties to the Indo-Pacific region and its security interests in Southeast Asia. Australia's increasing security dependence on the US in an age of great power rivalry is evident throughout.

Australia and the World Joan Beaumont, Matthew Jordan, 2013-05-20 Australia and the World celebrates the pioneering role of Neville Meaney in the formation and development of foreign relations history in Australia and his profound influence on its study, teaching and application

Australia, New Zealand, and the Pacific Islands since the First World War William S. Livingston, Wm. Roger Louis, 2014-08-04 Three forces—dwindling British power, rising American influence and nationalism in a variety of forms—have transformed Australia, New Zealand and the adjacent islands since 1919. In this volume, some of the most distinguished scholars of the Pacific region assess these significant historical changes. These essays deal with international relations, politics, changing social structures and literature since World War I. The themes of the volume as a whole are social and humanistic; they concern the evolution of both a regional identity and separate national identities in the Southwest Pacific. The unique areal and thematic concentration of this book makes it essential reading for all those interested in the history, politics and culture of the Pacific.

Australia in the International Legal System Madelaine Chiam, Alison Duxbury, 2025-08-21 What impact has Australia had on international law and what is its significance in terms of its participation in the transnational legal system? This collection of essays delves into the history of Australia's interactions with international law and considers how its people have shaped international law. It explores key issues such as the country's imperial and settler past. It assesses how Australians have contributed to key institutions such as the ICJ, the UN and the British Commonwealth. It gives a fascinating insight into international law's impact on a domestic legal system and the complex and multifaceted nature of that relationship. Scholars from across the international spectrum, whether in the field of law, politics or history, will welcome this erudite and engaging work Australia in World Affairs, 1950-1955 Gordon Greenwood, Norman Denholm Harper, 1957 The New Global Politics of the Asia-Pacific Michael K. World Affairs, 1928 Includes the Annual report of the American Peace Society World Affairs Report California Institute of International Studies, 1986 Australia and Africa Nikola Pijović, 2019-01-28 This book offers analysis of Australia's engagement with Africa as well as the country's rather unique status as a new actor and emerging country in Africa With its empirical originality and comparative contribution the book fills a gap in both the study of Africa's global engagement with emerging countries and in connection with Australia's largely unknown engagement with African states Australia has presented itself as Africa's friend from the south without any colonial baggage and is interested in a long term partnership for trade and development In this context Australia is only one of many new players seeking more intensive engagement with Africa since the end of the Cold War At its core the book argues that because of its largely unacknowledged flawed historical engagement with Africa as well as the political partisanship driving its fickle and volatile contemporary engagement with the continent Australia suffers from an inability to assess its strategic and long term interests i.e. it doesn't know what it wants in or from Africa This makes Australia a rather unique emerging player in Africa while other new actors engagement with Africa is generally strategic and driven to a large extent by a desire to secure resources and counter the influence of geopolitical rivals Australia's efforts with regard to Africa are more episodic and not about acquiring resources or countering its rivals Hence while immigration globalization trade terrorism and climate change continue to bring Africa and Australia closer together Australia's failure to understand its own interests continues to hamper its engagement with Africa Australia in World Affairs, 1966-1970 Australian Institute of International Affairs, Australia in World Affairs, 1950-1955 Gordon Greenwood, Norman Harper, 1957 Australia and the Colonial Question at the United Nations W.
