Compulsory Income Management in Australia and New Zealand Greg Marston, Louise Humpage, Michelle Peterie, Philip Mendes, Shelley Bielefeld, Zoe Staines, 2022-06-16 More than a decade on from their conception this book reflects on the consequences of income management policies in Australia and New Zealand Drawing on a three year study it explores the lived experience of those for whom core welfare benefits and services are dependent on government conceptions of responsible behaviour It analyses whether officially claimed positive intentions and benefits of the schemes are outweighed by negative impacts that deepen the poverty and stigma of marginalised and disadvantaged groups This novel study considers the future of this form of welfare conditionality and addresses wider questions of fairness and social justice Australian Government John J. Cosgrove, Marilyn A. Cosgrove, Marilyn A. Hankey, 1985 OECD Economic Surveys: Australia 2017 OECD, 2017-03-02 This 2017 OECD Economic Survey of Australia examines recent economic developments policies and prospects The special chapters cover innovation driven productivity and boosting R D outcomes

Biological Control of Weeds in Australia M. H. Julien, R. E. McFadyen, Jim Cullen, 2012 Biological control of weeds has been practiced for over 100 years and Australia has been a leader in this weed management technique The classical example of control of prickly pears in Australia by the cactus moth Cactoblastis cactorum which was imported from the Americas helped to set the future for biocontrol of weeds in many countries Since then there have been many projects using Classical Biological Control to manage numerous weed species many of which have been successful Importantly there have been no serious negative non target impacts the technique when practiced as it is in Australia is safe and environmentally friendly Economic assessments have shown that biocontrol of weeds in Australia has provided exceedingly high benefit to cost ratios This book reviews biological control of weeds in Australia to 2011 covering over 90 weed species and a multitude of biological control agents and potential agents Each chapter has been written by practicing biological control of weeds researchers and provides details of the weed the history of its biological control exploration for agents potential agents studied and agents released and the outcomes of those releases Many weeds were successfully controlled some were not many projects are still underway some have just begun however all are reported in detail in this book Biological Control of Weeds in Australia will provide invaluable information for biological control researchers in Australia and elsewhere Agents used in Australia could be of immense value to other countries that suffer from the same weeds as Australia The studies reported here provide direction to future research and provide examples and knowledge for researchers and students KEY FEATURES A unique collation of information for Australian weed research and management Contains all the information about biological control of weeds in Australia in one book Provides key references for further information Will become a well
