The words of this song can be traced back to the mid-18th century. Around 1759 there were many encampments along the south coast of England anticipating French invasion. The tune, which is anonymous, is sometimes known as Brighton Camp. It is still played by the British Army on occasions of departure.

The musical score is presented in a piano/vocal arrangement. It features a treble and bass clef for the piano accompaniment and a single treble clef for the vocal line. The key signature has one flat (Bb) and the time signature is 4/4. The score is divided into four systems, each with piano accompaniment on the left and vocal line on the right.
