Due to diminished olfactory sense, wears enough perfume to stun small animals at twenty feet.

This is not a dog. This is an accessory.

Can't see nose. Can't see feet. Can't remember how many pairs of glasses she needs, or how many she has, or where they are. Said to hell with the whole thing years ago.

Doesn't notice skirt tucked into waistband because everything always feels funny anyway.

Wears all her jewelry when she goes out because she is convinced that some awful drug addict is looking into her house this very minute.

An exhaustive study of the occupations and recreations of those ladies with the big hats and little dogs.

The Publishers Weekly, 2006 Making Geography Matter Noel Castree, Trevor Barnes, Jennifer Salmond, 2025-02-28
What is the purpose of Geography? What do geographers study and why? How do they seek to shape the world they interrogate? This book addresses these questions by examining the lives and works of individual geographers both past and present. Like all disciplines, Geography is no more nor less than the collective endeavours of researchers and teachers operating in specific contexts. The contexts both shape and are shaped by these individuals. This book's biographical and autobiographical chapters transport readers to the times and places where geographers have sought to make Geography matter. The result is a more vivid, grounded understanding of the discipline than the many high-level surveys of geographic thought paradigms currently written for university students. This book's accessible essays each conclude with a study task. Making Geography Matter is aimed at university students and their teachers who wish to understand the goals, history, and evolving practice of Geography. It provides an alternative perspective, both concrete and engaging, to the many student-focused texts that map out numerous isms andologies.

Theatre in London has celebrated a rich and influential history, and in 1976 the first volume of J. P. Wearing's reference series provided researchers with an indispensable resource of these productions. In the decades since the original calendars were produced, several research aids have become available, notably various reference works and the digitization of important newspapers and relevant periodicals. The second edition of The London Stage 1950-1959: A Calendar of Productions, Performers, and Personnel provides a chronological calendar of London shows from the first of January 1950 through the 31st of December 1959. The volume chronicles more than 3,100 productions at 52 major central London theatres during this period. For each production, the following information is provided: Title, Author, Theatre, Performers, Personnel, Opening and Closing Dates, Number of Performances. Other details include genre of the production, number of acts, and a list of reviews. A comment section includes other interesting information such as plot description, first-night reception by the audience, noteworthy performances, staging elements, and details of performances in New York, either prior to or after the London production. Among the plays staged in London during this decade were Look Back in Anger, One Way Pendulum, The Birthday Party, A Taste of Honey, Chicken Soup with Barley, Five Finger Exercise, The

Our Shared Japan Irene De Angelis, Joseph Woods, 2007 Given the distance which separates the two countries it is remarkable the interest contemporary Irish poets take in Japan both as subject and responding to its rich literature and culture as exemplar To mark the 50th anniversary of the establishment of diplomatic relations between the two countries in 1957 Our Shared Japan brings together a large selection of poems by Irish writers both in English and in Irish written or published during those 50 years Featuring some of the best known names in contemporary Irish poetry it also includes many younger poets who have grown up with and in various ways responded to those growing connections Some of the poets have visited or spent time in Japan and write from that experience others respond to a Japan of the imagination adopting or adapting Japanese poetic technique as a means to expand and enrich their own ways of looking at the world In this respect Our Shared Japan is a celebration of outside influence but it is also a celebration of the power of poetry wherever we may travel to find it to bring us to ourselves
