Communal Endeavours Migrant Organisations In Melbourne:

Communal Endeavours Rachel Unikoski, 1978 The Australian People James Jupp, 2001-10 Australia is one of the most ethnically diverse societies in the world today From its ancient indigenous origins to British colonisation followed by waves of European then international migration in the twentieth century the island continent is home to people from all over the globe Each new wave of settlers has had a profound impact on Australian society and culture The Australian People documents the dramatic history of Australian settlement and describes the rich ethnic and cultural inheritance of the nation through the contributions of its people It is one of the largest reference works of its kind with approximately 250 expert contributors and almost one million words Illustrated in colour and black and white the book is both a comprehensive encyclopedia and a survey of the controversial debates about citizenship and multiculturalism now that Australia has attained the centenary of its federation

Sporting Nationalisms Mike Cronin, David Mayall, 2005-07-08 This volume examines the ways in which sport shapes the experiences of various immigrant and minority groups and in particular looks at the relationship between sport ethnic identity and ethnic relations The articles in this volume are concerned primarily with British American and Australian sporting traditions and the themes covered include the consolidation of ethnic identity in host societies through participation immigrant sports and exclusive sporting organizations assimilation into host societies through participation in indigenous national sports and the construction by outsiders of separate ethnic identities according to sporting criteria

With God on their Side Timothy Chandler, Tara Magdalinski, 2005-07-12 Sport and religion are cultural institutions with a global reach Each is characterised by ritualised performance and by the ecstatic devotion of its followers whether in the sports arena or the cathedral of worship This fascinating collection is the first to examine in detail the relationship between these two cultural institutions from an international religiously pluralistic perspective It illuminates the role of sport and religion in the social formation of collective groups and explores how sport might operate in the service of a religious community The book offers a series of cutting edge contemporary historical case studies wide ranging in their social and religious contexts It presents important new work on the following fascinating topics sport and Catholicism in Northern Ireland Shinto and sumo in Japan women sport and the American Jewish identity religion race and rugby in South Africa sport and Islam in France and North Africa sport and Christian fundamentalism in the US Muhammad Ali and the Nation of Islam With God on their Side is vital reading for all students of the history sociology and culture of sport It also presents important new research material that will be of interest to religious studies students historians and anthropologists

Kunz, 1988 Review of Multicultural and Migrant Education Australian Institute of Multicultural Affairs, 1980 The objectives of this review of multicultural and migrant education in Australia were to survey nationally current activities assess whether programs can be improved and if so make recommendations for change and identify areas requiring further research The review covers the following topics 1 patterns of Australian multiculturalism 2 issues of education in a multicultural society with discussion of teaching English as a second language teaching of community languages and studies of ethnic and cultural diversity 3 community views on multicultural education 4 discussion of relevant activities in government Catholic and non Catholic independent schools 5 the role of ethnic schools 6 how tertiary institutions contribute to multicultural and migrant education through teaching community languages preparing teachers of English as a Second language and courses in cultural and ethnic diversity 7 issues of adult migrant education including home tutoring courses in industry and English teaching by television and 8 what the government support structures are for multicultural education Recommendations for action are made where clearly applicable and areas for further research are identified A summary of conclusions and recommendations is included as well as a listing of contributors CG

The Dutch Down Under Nonja Peters,2006 The celebrations of the first 400 years of relations between The Commonwealth of Australia and The Kingdom of The Netherlands mark a very special and important event for both countries The shared relationship between the two countries was first established in 1606 when the Dutch vessel Duyfken mapped part of the coast near present day Weipa Cape York Peninsula of the continent that would in time become known as Australia This event led to further encounters between early maritime pioneers and traces of early Dutch influence are still found in such Australian place names as Tasmania and Cape Leeuwin Over time subsequent global events forged closer links between the two countries as part of the post war migration from a war ravaged Europe to the population hungry Australia almost 170 000 Dutch nationals arrived down under It was this migration from Europe in the 1950s that allowed the Australian economy to move forward into more prosperous times Today there are some 270 000 Australian residents who were either born in the Netherlands or who claim Dutch ancestry The Dutch Down Under 1606 2006 provides illuminating commentary from 23 contributing authors on the history of these relationships and on the socio economic and cultural impact of the migration on both Dutch residents in Australia and their families in the Netherlands

Why Minorities Play or Don't Play Soccer Kausik Bandyopadhyay,2013-09-13 Soccer the most popular mass spectator sport in the world has always remained a marker of identities of various sorts Behind the fa ade of its obvious entertainment aspect it has proved to be a perpetuating reflector of nationalism ethnicity community or communal identity and cultural specificity Naturally therefore the game is a complex representative of minorities status especially in countries where minorities play a crucial role in political social cultural or economic life The question is also important since in many nations success in sports like soccer has been used as an instrument for assimilation or to promote an alternative brand of nationalism Thus Jewish teams in pre Second World War Europe were set up to promote the idea of a muscular Jewish identity Similarly in apartheid South Africa soccer became the game of the black majority since it was excluded from the two principal games of the country rugby and cricket In India on the other hand the Muslim minorities under colonial rule appropriated soccer to assert their community identity The book examines why in certain countries minorities chose to take up the sport while in others they backed away from participating in the game or alternatively set up their own leagues and practised self exclusion The book examines European countries like the Netherlands England and France the USA Africa Australia and the larger countries of Asia particularly India This book was previously published as a special issue of Soccer and Society

Strangers in the World Leo Eitinger, David Schwarz, 1981

Ethnic Minority Youth in Australia Carmel Guerra, Robert Douglas White, 1995 The experiences of young people in Australia from different ethnic minorities are explored The book investigates the different social contexts within which ethnic minority young people are located and covers general issues such as gender ethnicity feminism juvenile justice sport sexuality and mental health Specific case studies of the ethnic minority youth experience are provided along with information about programs and campaigns which address specific issues in education welfare provision and community action which relate to these young people Selected chapters are separately indexed
