Communication And Community Anglogerman Perspectives:

Communication and Community Alan Brier, Robin Lovelock, 1996 The essays brought together here highlight the intrinsic inter connectedness of community and communication These concepts are of considerable contemporary relevance and are reflected across a range of academic disciplines in which they are commonly treated separately The key feature of this collection is that it treats the main themes and their many ramifications together and from a committed interdisciplinary perspective

Readings in Rhetorical Fieldwork Samantha Senda-Cook, Aaron Hess, Michael Middleton, Danielle Endres, 2018-09-05 Readings in Rhetorical Fieldwork compiles foundational articles highlighting the development of fieldwork in rhetorical criticism Presenting a wide variety of approaches the volume begins with a section establishing the starting points for the development of fieldwork in rhetorical criticism and then examines five topics Space Public Memory Publics and Counterpublics Advocacy and Activism and Science Technology and Medicine Within these sections readers evaluate a full spectrum of methods from interviews to oral histories to participant observation This volume is invaluable for advanced undergraduate and graduate students of rhetorical criticism rhetorical fieldwork and qualitative methods looking for a comprehensive overview of the development of rhetorical fieldwork

Reflecting on Social Work - Discipline and Profession Karen Lyons, 2017-03-02 Social work has always been a contested activity and its status as an academic discipline remains uncertain There is currently renewed interest in the theoretical and research dimensions of social work at a time when significant changes in the broad social political and economic context in which practice takes place require a re evaluation of social work s role and a re examination of its identity This timely book brings together leading social work academics to examine the state of social work at the beginning of the 21st century With their focus on the relationships between research theory and practice they reflect critically on the nature of social work as a discipline in higher education and the importance of this to the profession as a whole The book represents an exploratory conversation among social work academics about the current state and future aspirations of the discipline and the profession It aims to stimulate wider debate about the dominant constraints and opportunities for social work in the 21st century

Wedding as Text Wendy Leeds-Hurwitz, 2002-12-18 This volume using intercultural weddings as its focus examines what occurs when the signs codes of different cultures come into contact influence one another For scholars advanced level students of interpersonal nonverbal intercultural comm

Welfare Research Fiona William, Jennie Popay, Ann Oakley, 2005-08-12 First published in 1998 This book attempts to contribute a new framework for social research in the welfare field As such it engages with new theories new approaches and new methods alongside a constructive critique of both the old and the new It attempts to illustrate approaches to conceptualization and operationalization within policy relevant research to reflect and explore both new thinking in social theory and in welfare policy as well as to maintain a connection with old concerns Our concern is with welfare research both theory and method broadly defined as the wider landscape of policy and provision captured in the past at least by the notion of the welfare state The new thinking with which the book is primarily concerned involves a shift away from seeing people as the passive beneficiaries of welfare provided through state interventions and professional expertise and from seeing them as fixed single social categories of poor old single parent or as one dimensional objective socio economic classifications

Educating for Social Work Peter Ford,Patrick Hayes,1996 This book concerns the embattled state of social work and the potential role of social work education in confronting attacks upon it Contributions from five British universities analyse the forces underlying recent trends and resources that already exist or might be developed to counter them Part One examines the difficulties facing social work education locating them within a wide social and political context and scrutinising such developments as competency based assessment Part Two analyses four areas where actual possibilities for change are masked by current pessimism the implementation of anti discriminatory curricula the strengthening of partnerships with social work agencies the growing significance of international links and the place of research in social work theory and practice Unexpectedly optimistic conclusions are drawn social work education has neglected some potential strengths whose development could improve the quality of social work practice
