Oral communication skills in the primary english classroom Anna Hohls, 2008-05-27 Examination Thesis from the year 2007 in the subject Didactics for the subject English Pedagogy Literature Studies grade 1 0 Leuphana Universit t L neburg Englisch language English abstract In the summer of 2004 English as a foreign language was introduced as a core subject to primary schools in all 16 federal states of Germany This came as a result of many years of research and several years of experience teaching foreign languages at primary level in individual schools all over the country With the development of different ideas and approaches to primary specific language teaching the emphasis on the different skills involved and required in language learning has varied In recent years the importance of communicative skills has grown and speaking not only as a productive and reproductive but also as an interactive skill has come into the focus of foreign language teaching at primary level However classroom observations show that most English lessons do not go beyond teaching the pupils to repeat phrases and little dialogues after the teacher or to recite them usually under cover of their classmates The question I want to deal with in this paper which I have written as part of my final examination is what aspects oral communication skills are comprised of and how far they can be successfully developed in English as a foreign language EFL classrooms at primary level I will look at the aspects which must be considered in order to enable pupils to actively use the foreign language in the classroom and resulting from this in real life situations In order to do so I consulted several introductions to EFL learning and teaching both at primary and secondary level and literature dealing with the aspects of speaking and communicative competence even though they were in most cases designed for secondary schools and adult education as well as articles taken from primary English magazines giving insights into the practice of language teaching Teaching and Learning with ICT in the Primary School Marilyn Leask, John Meadows, 2000 Teaching and Learning with ICT in the Primary School introduces teachers to the range of ways in which ICT can be used to support and extend the teaching and learning opportunities in their classrooms Chapters cover areas such as literacy numeracy science and their relationship with ICT managing curriculum projects using ICT creating and using multimedia applications Ideas and activities for teachers to try are based on tried and tested methods from innovative schools around the UK and abroad Practising teachers and students will find this an invaluable guide on how to work together to extend their skills and knowledge in the area of ICT

Teaching Communication Skills in the Elementary School Gertrude A. Boyd, 1970 Coordinating information and communications technology across the primary school Mike Harrison, 2002-01-04 Specifically designed for busy teachers who have responsibility for co ordinating a subject area within their primary school Each volume in the series conforms to a concise style while providing a wealth of tips case studies and photocopyable material that teachers can use immediately There are special volumes dedicated to dealing with OFSTED creating whole school policy and the demands of co ordinating several subjects within a small school The entire set of 16 volumes is available Resources in Education, 1995-04 What relevance does speaking have in primary schools and is the "Teilrahmenplan" aligned to meet the needs of speaking skills? V. W., 2015-02-25 Seminar paper from the year 2014 in the subject Didactics for the subject English Pedagogy Literature Studies grade 2 3 University of Koblenz Landau Institut f r Anglistik und Romanistik course Teaching and Learning English at Primary Level language English abstract As in many other countries English is an important lingua franca in Germany Before 2001 it was only learned from class five or in some states from class three Since 2001 English or another foreign language is an obligatory subject in the primary school from class one to four The ability to communicate in a foreign language should be supported Speaking skills are necessary for achieving this goal As a consequence speaking tasks should occupy an important place in everyday school life The Unterrichtsorganisation Grundschule allocates teaching time to all subjects and the foreign language acquisition got the fewest time of all primary school subjects This term paper elaborates this problem and gives a brief overview about possibilities on how a teacher could handle this situation Primary Education, 1894 Language and Communication for Primary Education David Waugh, Kate Allott, 2016-06-11 Language and communication are essential in the classroom essential in children s learning essential in teacher s communication with children and essential in children s understanding of themselves This book is about talk for learning why it s important how it helps with learning and how you make the most of it in the classroom There are increasing concerns about levels of language difficulties and delayed language development among children entering school This presents a very real challenge for primary school teachers today Talk for learning is central to children s learning across the curriculum as well as to their language and communication development This book is a guide for trainee and beginning teachers on how to use talk for learning in the classroom It explores the theory behind the teaching of language and communication skills and includes lots of practical advice on how to translate this into the classroom Register of Educational Research in the United Kingdom, 1992-1995 National Foundation For Educational Research,1995 This latest volume of the Register of Educational Research in the United Kingdom lists all the major research projects being undertaken in Britain during the latter months of 1992 the whole of 1993 and 1994 and the early months of 1995 Each entry provides names and addresses of the researchers a detailed abstract the source and amount of the grant where applicable the length of the project and details of published material about the research The Nigerian Journal of Educational Review ,2004-07
