Communication Canada Issues In Broadcasting And New Technologies:

Communication Canada Rowland Lorimer, Donald C. Wilson, 1988      Communications Canada, 1987      A Political Economy of Canadian Broadcasting David Skinner, 2025-01-31 A Political Economy of Canadian Broadcasting takes readers from the days of the telegraph to the current digital age examining the role of public broadcasting in the wider context of regulation private capital and foreign programming This comprehensive history spans over a hundred years highlighting the shifting technological character of the media system within anglophone Canada and the key place of public broadcasting within it Situated in Canada s broader economic history David Skinner s account ably demonstrates how broadcast regulation has been derived from the historical relationships between the Canadian state and private capital and that this has tended to sideline its social goals The book concludes with suggestions for encouraging the creation of distinctively Canadian programming Coming just after the first major reform to Canada s broadcast legislation in three decades A Political Economy of Canadian Broadcasting is a timely contribution to the history of broadcasting and the policy discussions that frame it      Missed Opportunities Marc Raboy, 1990 In Missed Opportunities Marc Raboy reveals the short sightedness behind the traditional view of Canadian broadcasting policy as an instrument for promoting a national identity and culture He argues that Canadian broadcasting policy has served as a political instrument for reinforcing a certain image of Canada against insurgent challenges such as maintaining the image of Canada as a political entity distinct from the United States and acting against internal threats most notably from Quebec It has served as a vehicle for the development of private broadcasting industries and to further the general interests of the Canadian state Most of the time Raboy maintains this policy has been the object of vigorous public dispute      Resources in Education, 1991      Mass Communication in Canada Rowland Lorimer, Jean McNulty, 1996 The third edition of Mass Communication in Canada greatly expanded and thoroughly rewritten and reorganized fully explores the new terrain of the mid 1990s examining in detail both the rewards and the pitfalls of changing technologies and roles It contains selections from the press and other media that bring issues to life and illustrate the workings of media communication Also included in this edition is a new glossary of terms used in the study of communication      Federalism and Political Community Donald V. Smiley, 1989      Canada : Introduction Bibliographique André Senécal, International Council for Canadian Studies, 1991      Communications in Canadian Society Benjamin D. Singer, 1995      Canada Ernest Ingles, 1990      The American Trojan Horse Barry Berlin, 1990-10-24 The American Trojan Horse is a historical and descriptive study of the United States Canadian mass communications border war It centers on the millions of dollars spent annually by Canadian companies to advertise on U S border stations Canada s measures to retain this money led to a protracted international dispute Barry Berlin chronicles this dispute as it evolves through its two stages Canadian action 1970 to 1976 and U S response 1976 to 1988 Berlin identifies the roots of the conflict taking center stage is Canada s vision of U S media a modern Trojan Horse penetrating domestic media and ultimately absorbing Canadian culture and identity Barry Berlin meticulously guides his readers through each stage of the U S Canadian border war which began in the early 1970s and continued through several administrations both in Washington D C and Ottawa He identifies four interrelated roots to the conflict that places primary focus on Canadian nationalism Canada s understandable fear of cultural and economic absorption by its formidable southern neighbor Berlin begins by identifying the problem its evolution and its causes He then chronicles Canadian advertising controls deletion days and legislation Border station response to these controls is broken down into four stages initial moves new tacks pull it together and finally war winds down A summary concludes this volume International Journal ,1986 New Technologies in Canadian Education ,1984 Global Television Marketplace Timothy Havens,2006-08-07 This book offers a crucial look into the world of these elite purveyors of global popular culture who daily are working to build the global television culture of the future Psychology and the Internet Jayne Gackenbach,1998 Psychology and the Internet provides the first resource for examining how the Internet affects our definition of who we are and our communication and work patterns It also examines how normal behavior differs from the pathological with respect to Internet use The book contains three sections the first section covers the self in relation to the Internet the second section explores how the Internet is used to meet new friends and love interests as well as to conduct business and the final section examines the philosophical ramifications of Internet use and our definitions of reality and consciousness Economic and Policy Problems in Satellite Communications Joseph N. Pelton,Marcellus S. Snow,1976 Publicly Funded Satellite Television in Alaska Rosemarie Alexander Isett,1995 Public Affairs Information Service Bulletin ,1988 Thematic Entries Gabriele Pietro Scardellato,1996 Canadian Books in Print ,1995
