Communication History In Canada:

Communication History in Canada Daniel J. Robinson, 2004 A distinctive blend of history geography government economics and biculturalism meant that communication systems and the mass media evolved differently in Canada than in either the United States or Europe Bringing together twenty six articles that range in subject from colonial newspapers in the early 1800s to music television in the 1980s Communication History in Canada provides the historical foundation for a thorough contextual analysis of modern day media and communication in this country From Marshall McLuhan and Harold Innis to Mary Vipond and Will Straw the authors in this volume represent a wide cross section of disciplines including history communication studies sociology journalism political science and film studies Their essays are grouped in five sections Time Space Technology and Nation which explores the relationship between media society and human thought Postal Systems and Telecommunications which centres on the telegraph the telephone and computers Print Mass Media which describes the origins and diffusion of newspapers and magazines with a particular emphasis on commercialization through advertising and market research Broadcast Media which charts the rise of radio broadcasting in the inter war years and of television broadcasting from the 1950s through the 1980s and Cultural Industries which examines film and sound recording

Communicating in Canada's Past Gene Allen, Daniel Robinson, 2009-11-14 Communicating in Canada's Past evolved out of essays presented at the inaugural Conference on Media History in Canada of 2006 which brought together media historians from across the disciplines and from both French and English Canada The first collection of its kind this volume assembles both well established and up and coming scholars to address sizable gaps in the literature on media history in Canada Communicating in Canada's Past includes a substantial introduction to media history as a field of study historiographical essays by senior scholars Mary Vipond Paul Rutherford and Fernande Roy and original research essays on a range of subjects including print journalism radio television and advertising Editors Gene Allen and Daniel J Robinson have provided a sophisticated wide ranging introduction for those who are new to media history while also assembling a valuable collection of new research and theory for those already familiar with the field The Handbook of Communication History Peter Simonson, 2013 The Handbook of Communication History addresses central ideas social practices and media of communication as they have developed across time cultures and world geographical regions It attends to both the varieties of communication in world history and the historical investigation of those forms in communication and media studies The Handbook editors view communication as encompassing patterns processes and performances of social interaction symbolic production material exchange institutional formation social praxis and discourse As such the history of communication cuts across social cultural intellectual political technological institutional and economic history The volume examines the history of communication history the history of ideas of communication the history of communication media and the history of the field of communication Readers will explore the history of the object under consideration relevant practices media and ideas review its manifestations in different regions and cultures comparative dimensions and orient toward current thinking and historical research on the topic current state of the field As a whole the volume gathers disparate strands of communication history into one volume offering an accessible and panoramic view of the development of communication over time and geographical places and providing a catalyst to further work in communication history
