

Map of Communist Countries

The Cold War saw a global geopolitical battle between the competing influences of the capitalist west and the communist east. Within this period many countries were adhering to communism, however most would transition into capitalist systems following the Cold War.

Currently only 5 countries still run under a communist country. Thus being China, Laos, Vietnam, North Korea, and Cuba.

At its peak, roughly 1/3 of the world's population lived under a communist country. With an overwhelming majority of the communist population being in the USSR and China.

BANNED

Ukraine has banned the public display of communist symbols, whereas Indonesia has banned both communism systems and the practice of communism on the state & local level.
