

Characteristics of Communist Economies

Role of the Communist Party

In any communist-run nation, the Communist Party holds the decision-making power in both the government and the economy.

Central Planning

Government officials plan and supervise production in factories, farms, and stores.

Collectivization

Collective or state ownership of the means of production is one pillar of communism. Collectivization is the process of merging small private farms into large government-owned agricultural enterprises.

State Ownership

Industrial enterprises, transportation, and other parts of the economy are also state-owned.
