Encyclopedia of Community DAVID LEVINSON, KAREN CHRISTENSEN, 2003-06-30 Click Additional Materials for downloadable materials and samples Incredibly this is the first encyclopedia to focus on community as concept and experience so stands alone in its field as the one title any library must buy to cover this topic Essential for all readerships CHOICEA timely comprehensive and very welcome overview of a rich and rapidly growing field of inquiry Robert D Putnam Professor at Harvard University and author of Bowling Alone With every passing minute it becomes more and more apparent that our world is one community The Encyclopedia of Community serves as recognition of this trend and as a needed resource The four volume set not only explains the emerging buzz words of community such as social capital or civic engagement but also tells many stories of community institutions that work such as public libraries Sarah Ann Long Past President 1999 2000 American Library Association As we yearn to connect with our fellow citizens during these uncertain times we have a unique moment to encourage greater participation in our democracy and reinvigorate our communities The Encyclopedia of Community provides a timely diverse array of theories and practices that will help citizens understand the value of engaging together to make the critical choices that enrich the way we live learn work and govern in our local communities The Encyclopedia deserves a prime spot in the libraries homes and offices of all communities that want to invest in a brighter future for their residents and their children Nancy Kranich Past President of the American Library Association whose presidential theme was Libraries The Cornerstone of Democracy 2000 2001 American politicians often pair the word community with the word freedom to describe our basic values Yet though used constantly the word community is defined in widely different and contested ways Most people like the idea of community but some intellectuals worry that it might imply collectivism The great value of this new Encyclopedia is that it gives readers a chance to sample the many uses of the term and gain clarity about the issues at stake It is a major contribution to a more coherent understanding of this fundamental idea Robert Bellah Professor of Sociology Emeritus University of California Berkeley and co author of Habits of the Heart SAGE Publications is proud to announce the Encyclopedia of Community a major reference work that summarizes the many fascinating and important concepts of a global topic Community itself is a concept an experience and a central part of being human Whether the reader is a student researcher or professional in the field of psychology sociology or even economics this three volume work will provide the necessary definitions of community beyond traditional views Arranged in an A to Z fashion the Encyclopedia can also be viewed topically via a Reader s Guide This allows for interdisciplinary compare and contrast among topics such as types of communities social capital technology urban life politics and law community design and global studies Edited by the award winning team at Berkshire Reference and assisted by an editorial board of world renowned scholars the Encyclopedia of Community will prove to be one of the most widely used reference works in your collection Key Features 500 signed articles 3 volumes 2000 pages Reader s Guide Master bibliography 250 sidebars Appendices Resource Guides Master Bibliography Libraries Build Community Libraries and Popular Culture Albion ,1985 Vols for 1969 1970 consist of the proceedings of the Conference on British Studies Pacific Northwest Section summer 1971 winter 1972 consists of the proceedings of the Conference on British Studies at its Regional and National Meetings spring 1979 winter 1980 includes proceedings of the Conference on British Studies at its Regional and National Meetings spring 1983 includes proceedings of the North American Conference on British Studies The Power of Culture in City Planning Tom Borrup,2020-11-29 The Power of Culture in City Planning focuses on human diversity strengths needs and ways of living together in geographic communities The book turns attention to the anthropological definition of culture encouraging planners in both urban and cultural planning to focus on characteristics of humanity in all their variety It calls for a paradigm shift re positioning city planners base maps to start with a richer understanding of human cultures Borrup argues for cultural master plans in parallel to transportation housing parks and other specialized plans while also changing the approach of city comprehensive planning to put people or users first rather than land uses as does the dominant practice Cultural plans as currently conceived are not sufficient to help cities keep pace with dizzying impacts of globalization immigration and rapidly changing cultural interests Cultural planners need to up their game and enriching their own and city planners cultural competencies is only one step Both planning practices have much to learn from one another and already overlap in more ways than most recognize This book highlights some of the strengths of the lesser known practice of cultural planning to help forge greater understanding and collaboration between the two practices empowering city planners with new tools to bring about more equitable communities This will be an important resource for students teachers and practitioners of city and cultural planning as well as municipal policymakers of all stripes

Researching and Transforming Adult Learning and Communities Rob Evans, Ewa Kurantowicz, Emilio

Lucio-Villegas, 2015-12-17 Can adult education and learning be understood without reference to community and people's daily lives? The response to be found in the chapters of this volume says emphatically no; they cannot. Adult learning can be best understood if we look at the social life of people in communities and this book is an attempt to recover this view. The chapters of this volume reflect ongoing research in the field of adult education and learning in and with communities. At the same time, the work of the authors presented here offers a very vital reflection of the work of the ESREA research network Between Local and Global Adult Learning and Communities. The chapters showcase the broad range of professional practice, the variety in both methodology and theoretical background, as well as the impressive scope of field research experience the authors bring to bear in their papers. The first section provides the broad view of research into adult learning and community development, emphasising how social movements are at the heart of local and global change and that they are critically important sources of power. The second section focuses in on the practice of educators/mediators working in local and regional contexts in which the tensions of the wider policy and discourse environment impact on adult learners. The third section privileges the view at the close level of research inside local communities in the field. International researchers and practitioners, particularly young researchers who are active in adult learning and in local/global communities, will be interested in this book. The emphasis of the chapters is on participatory and emancipatory social research. Empowerment of women in rural communities, involvement of communities in social and environmental movements, power sharing in community research projects, and the exposure of hegemonic/globalising forces at work in ethnic communities are among the themes developed in this volume.

Adult Education in Communities

Emilio Lucio-Villegas, 2015-06-25 Participation can be a double-edged sword in that it can be used to bind people into agendas and policies they have little control over, or it can help enable them to give voice to real and significant issues. Drawing on the work of Raymond Williams, genuine participation has to be an open and democratic process which enables all to contribute to the creation of meanings. Adult education in communities can then be involved in the process of creating really useful knowledge that is knowledge which enables people/individuals and collectivities who experience systematic forms of oppression, domination and exploitation to think about, analyse and act on their situation individually and severally. By drawing on contemporary accounts of emancipatory action and participatory research, the author elaborates on the role of adult educators in this context. From the Preface: This book tries to reflect on adult education and its close relationships with communities. It is a modest attempt to maintain adult education in the scope of the community life, against the growing schooling, the focus on employability and on the labour market. In the last years, it seems that adult education has become a kind of provider of diplomas, skills and competences and has forgotten its role to enlighten individuals and help them to share their community life with an abundance of richness, diversity, sadness and happiness. Adult Education is intrinsically connected to daily life and the life that individuals constantly edify in their interactions If adult education is connected to daily life one of the major tasks is to recover this feeling and to link daily life and education I think that at present time in a moment of intense reductionism reality is usually presented as very plain losing its complexity and diversity that are related to the fact that life is being lived everyday by men and women as creators and relational beings Reports of the Chief Registrar of Friendly Societies, for the Year Ending ... Friendly Societies' Registry Office (Great Britain),1914
