Dream Swimmer:

The Dream Swimmer Witi Ihimaera, 2005-02-02 Eleven years have passed since that winter of 1986 when I put down my pen on the story of the woman who wore pearls in her hair my grandmother the matriarch Riripeti Mahana nee Pere whom some called Artemis So begins The Dream Swimmer Witi Ihimaera's gripping sequel to The Matriarch acclaimed winner of the Wattie Award The Dream Swimmer continues the odyssey of Tama Mahana grandson and heir to the matriarch as he assumes the mantle of leadership and with it his grandmother's battles with the Pakeha But at every step Tama is thwarted by deception and intrigue and by the woman whose destiny has intersected Riripeti's and his She is the enigmatic Tiana his mother the woman of no account Ihimaera continues to dazzle as he negotiates this story of great breadth and breathtaking climaxes combining the heart of his early work with the deft experimentalism of his more recent novels and short stories At once an incisive character study and a deeply moving family saga The Dream Swimmer is sure to enchant and delight Part oracle part memorialist Ihimaera is an inspired voice weaving many stories together The effect is epic operatic David Eggleton Metro Also available as an eBook

Ancient Greek Myth in World Fiction since 1989 Justine McConnell, Edith Hall, 2016-06-02 Ancient Greek Myth in World Fiction since 1989 explores the diverse ways that contemporary world fiction has engaged with ancient Greek myth Whether as a framing device or a filter or via resonances and parallels Greek myth has proven fruitful for many writers of fiction since the end of the Cold War This volume examines the varied ways that writers from around the world have turned to classical antiquity to articulate their own contemporary concerns Featuring contributions by an international group of scholars from a number of disciplines the volume offers a cutting edge interdisciplinary approach to contemporary literature from around the world Analysing a range of significant authors and works not usually brought together in one place the book introduces readers to some less familiar fiction while demonstrating the central place that classical literature can claim in the global literary curriculum of the third millennium The modern fiction covered is as varied as the acclaimed North American television series The Wire contemporary Arab fiction the Japanese novels of Haruki Murakami and the works of New Zealand's foremost Maori writer Witi Ihimaera

The Ship of Dreams Alistair Fox, 2008 This is the first critical study to investigate at length how masculine subjectivities are represented in contemporary New Zealand fiction Notoriously self-contained and private Kiwi men are often reluctant to talk about their personal feelings and embarrassed at the thought that any private emotional difficulties could be exposed to critical examination One must go to their imaginative literature to make contact with the reality that underlies the often calculatedly deceptive surface In his investigation of these issues author Alistair Fox demonstrates the crucial importance of Pakeha and Maori cultural predispositions influencing masculine identity in New Zealand often at the cost of great psychic pain for the men involved
