Bangladesh Roger J. Robinson,1999 Bangladesh evokes profound moving impressions The country is the most densely populated state in the world It has limited natural resources and is highly vulnerable to natural disasters Famine is an ever present danger Emerging from a bloody war in 1971 the country s capacity to survive was widely doubted But Bangladesh has survived and has made progress in economic and social development Despite the political traumas from 1977 to 1980 Bangladesh has made progress in economic and social development and has been transformed over the past 16 years From the country s inception the World Bank has been involved in Bangladesh s economic development The International Development Association IDA has financed about a quarter of all foreign aid commitments However Bangladesh s dependence on foreign aid has raised concerns regarding sovereignty and self reliance in the development process This Country Assistance Review CAR presents the findings of an Operations Evaluation Department team that visited Bangladesh in August September 1996 It represents a synthesis of the key findings of the evaluation The CAR s main conclusion is that IDA s assistance to Bangladesh has been effective and the partnership forged with the government has brought some notable successes The lessons drawn from it are presented at a strategic level and are applicable in Bangladesh and other countries

Development Results in Middle-income Countries ,2007-01-01 The World Bank s support in fostering growth and reducing poverty has contributed to the considerable economic success of MIC countries But to produce greater development benefits it has to become more agile and draw upon MICs own capacity much more systematically connecting such capabilities to help low income countries and to tackle global challenges The Bank s work has to more clearly demonstrate best practice to deliver impact beyond its limited direct role   A Guide to the World Bank ,2003 The World Bank Group works in more than 100 developing economies and is one of the world s largest sources of development assistance In 2002 the institution provided US 19 5 billion in loans to its client countries This guide reviews the organisation s history objectives and operations and looks at the five institutions that make up the World Bank Group the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development IBRD the International Development Association IDA the International Finance Corporation IFC the Multilateral Investment Guarantee Agency MIGA and the International Centre for Settlement of Investment Disputes ICSID   Using Training to Build Capacity World Bank,2008-03-20 The World Bank finances about US 720 million in training every year through both its lending projects and its in house World Bank Institute WBI The evaluation found that while most of the training reviewed resulted in demonstrable participant learning this learning frequently did not lead to real change in participants workplace performance Poor training outcomes most often resulted from training content that wasn t relevant to the needs and goals of the target institutions or from the trainees lack of incentives or resources to apply learning in their workplaces These findings highlight how important it is for training to be embedded in broader capacity building programs that identify and address organizational and institutional capacity constraints alongside human ones   Highlights of recent IFPRI research and partnerships in Bangladesh International Food Policy Research Institute (IFPRI),2016-10-14 For more than two decades IFPRI s research and policy analysis have been a resource for Bangladesh in making impressive strides in ensuring food security and reducing poverty Working closely with the Bangladesh Ministry of Food and Disaster Management and its Food Planning and Monitoring Unit the Ministry of Agriculture the Bangladesh Institute of Development Studies BRAC CARE International and civil society organizations IFPRI has supported Bangladesh in its goals of improving nutrition women s empowerment social protection and coping with natural disasters IFPRI looks forward to deepening its collaboration with these and other partners through its Policy Research and Strategy Support Program and complementary initiatives and to enhancing long term capacity in policy analysis and evidence based research Such strong collaborative efforts have translated and will continue to translate research into policy action that will help accelerate Bangladesh s progress in ending hunger and undernutrition   Bangladesh on a New Journey Sreeradha Datta,2024-01-30 This volume contributes to understanding Bangladesh s growth story as it celebrates 50 years of independence The fastest growing South Asian state is being recognised as an important partner and model case study with increasing global relevance by world powers Sreeradha Datta reviews many of its critical bilateral relationships as well as its expanding influence in the region and world beyond enabling an understanding of how Bangladesh s growth trajectory complements and informs its foreign policy aims The volume has a mixture of thematic and bilateral chapters and includes the active Bangladeshi diaspora population and its influence on the country s unfolding narrative Datta features the viewpoints of key Bangladeshi policy makers expert takes on how the world is engaging with Bangladesh and covers the growing salience of Bangladesh s foreign policy reflecting its new acquired economic status   OECD Development Pathways Production Transformation Policy Review of Bangladesh Investing in the Future of a Trading Nation OECD,United Nations Conference on Trade and Development,2023-09-12 Half a century after independence Bangladesh has achieved impressive progress The country has transformed from one of the poorest nations into a global textile manufacturing hub capable of meeting its medical needs almost entirely through domestic pharmaceutical production The Privatisation of Higher Education in Postcolonial Bangladesh Ariful H. Kabir,Raqib Chowdhury,2021-05-16 This book problematises contemporary realities of the political dimension of the privatisation of higher education in Bangladesh By exploring the complexities of neoliberalism as an economic and ideological doctrine a mode of governance and as a policy package it considers the post attached to and hyphenated with colonialism as more aspirational than achieved Based on an interdisciplinary study involving contemporary theories from political and social sciences economics and the socio economics of education the book explores the unique ways in which Bangladeshi higher education has evolved over the past four decades and the complex politics behind its privatisation Through an empirically based account of how neoliberalism has worked its way through the higher education sector in the fastest growing economy in the South Asian context it discusses how changes have been characterised by policy reforms massification and a sustained friction between control and autonomy in the university sector The authors take a nuanced approach to their geo political and onto epistemological positionalities as diasporic and hybridised scholars by rejecting epistemological exclusion inherent in the colonial present and research conducted in such contexts This position allows the reinforcement of a colonial present theorising from within Global South decolonial and postcolonial research literature This book contributes to discourses of globalisation from above and globalisation from below and sheds light on the often idiosyncratic ways in which higher education reform has unfolded in South Asia It will be of interest to comparative educators and those researching higher education policy and education developments in Global South nations
