Drayneflete Revealed Osbert Lancaster, 1951 Drayneflete Revealed ... Illustrated by the Author Osbert Lancaster, 1949 Making Dystopia James Stevens Curl, 2018-08-23 In Making Dystopia distinguished architectural historian James Stevens Curl tells the story of the advent of architectural Modernism in the aftermath of the First World War its protagonists and its astonishing almost global acceptance after 1945 He argues forcefully that the triumph of architectural Modernism in the second half of the twentieth century led to massive destruction the creation of alien urban landscapes and a huge waste of resources Moreover the coming of Modernism was not an inevitable seamless evolution as many have insisted but a massive unparalleled disruption that demanded a clean slate and the elimination of all ornament decoration and choice Tracing the effects of the Modernist revolution in architecture to the present Stevens Curl argues that with each passing year so called iconic architecture by supposed star architects has become more and more bizarre unsettling and expensive ignoring established contexts and proving to be stratospherically remote from the aspirations and needs of humanity In the elite world of contemporary architecture form increasingly follows finance and in a society in which the haves have more and more and the have nots are ever more marginalized he warns that contemporary architecture continues to stack up huge potential problems for the future as housing costs spiral out of control resources are squandered on architectural bling and society fractures This courageous passionate deeply researched and profoundly argued book should be read by everyone concerned with what is around us Its combative critique of the entire Modernist architectural project and its apologists will be highly controversial to many But it contains salutary warnings that we ignore at our peril And it asks awkward questions to which answers are long overdue Transformations Colin Renfrew, Kenneth L. Cooke, 2014-05-10 Transformations Mathematical Approaches to Culture Change focuses on the application of contemporary mathematical techniques to the study of culture change and formulates problems in archaeology anthropology and historiography in such a way that they are susceptible to treatment of a mathematical kind Mathematical models extending from the almost purely quantitative methods of physics to the purely verbal conceptual explanations are described Emphasis is placed on catastrophe theoretic models that exemplify the use of soft mathematics in situations in which the use of hard quantitative models is not possible Comprised of 21 chapters this book begins with an overview of the role of mathematics in theoretical archaeology followed by a discussion on two general categories of mathematical methods that seem to be suitable for modeling cultural transformations methods of dynamical systems theory and methods that give greater emphasis on discrete entities and the structural relations or patterns among them Subsequent chapters deal with the use of mathematics in history morphogenesis in biological and social systems simulation of the growth of hierarchies and logistic trends in Southwest population growth A reconstruction of political units in the Valley of Mexico during the Toltec period is also presented This monograph will be of interest to archaeologists anthropologists historians biologists sociologists and mathematicians Latest Readings Clive James,2015-01-01 The author reflects on his latest readings and re readings undertaken after being diagnosed with terminal leukemia combining thoughts on old favorites and new discoveries with personal musings on living and dying Anti-Ugly Gavin Stamp,2013-11-07 Since 2004 Gavin Stamp one of Britain s most eminent and readable architectural historians has written a monthly column for Apollo the esteemed architecture and fine art magazine The subject is simply whatever in design or architecture happens to take his fancy It might be the splendid reopening of the magnificent Midland Grand Hotel at St Pancras Station or the dilapidation of a little known church in Eastbourne the much lamented demise of the original Routemaster bus or the colossal majesty of the airship sheds that housed the R 101 But while these pieces display a wonderful range and variety they are unified by Stamp s wider quest to explore define and champion the very Englishness of English architecture and design When fine examples are preserved and restored he celebrates when they fall victim to philistine neglect or worse demolition he mourns And when the elegant is overshadowed by the merely modish he deplores In Anti Ugly Stamp has selected the best of these excursions producing a compulsively readable collection that builds into an eloquent learned trenchant and often indignant portrait of our national design heritage New Directions in Local History Since Hoskins Christopher Dyer,Andrew James Hopper,Evelyn Lord,Nigel J. Tringham,2011 Local history in Britain can trace its origins back to the sixteenth century and before but it was given inspiration and a new sense of direction in the 1950s and 60s by the work of W G Hoskins This book marks the fiftieth anniversary of the publication of his Local history in England which was designed to help people researching the history of their own villages and towns It is the result of a collaboration between academic historians in the Centre for English Local History at the University of Leicester which Hoskins founded and the British Association for Local History an organisation that brings together the thousands of people who are not professional academics but who practise local history Taking the work of Hoskins as a starting point the contributors show how local history is being researched and written today Fifteen historians write about a variety of local history subjects which are significant in their own right but which also point to current trends in the subject They show how local historians use their sources systematically from the non verbal evidence of buildings to various types of electronic resources All periods between the middle ages and the early twenty first century are explored as are many different parts of the country from Skye to the Kent coast There are examples of local historians working on ethnic minorities gender and the working class Those who study localities use a variety of approaches including those of social economic religious legal intellectual and cultural history all of which are employed here They are aware of the roots of their subject and examine the history of local history itself Together the editors and authors raise the various dilemmas which stimulate debates among local historians about the nature of the subject its present health and the directions it will take in the next half century Mercury ,1948 The Countryman John William Robertson Scott,1950 The Cornhill Magazine ,1975 TSWNTIETH CENTURY AUTHORS STANLEY J. KUNITZ,1955 Britain Today

,1950 The Architects' Journal ,1949 The Architectural Review ,1950 Good Books ,1947 The Ancient City Joyce Marcus,Jeremy A. Sabloff,2008-10-15 Ancient cities have much to tell us about the social political religious and economic conditions of their times and also about our own Ongoing excavations all over the world are enabling scholars to document intra city changes through time city to city interaction and changing relations between cities and their hinterlands
As the essays in this volume reveal archaeologists now know much more about the founding and functions of ancient cities their diverse trade networks their heterogeneous plans and layouts and their various lifespans and trajectories Jacket World Authors, 1900-1950 ,1996 Provides almost 2700 articles on twentieth century authors from all over the world
