Consciousness, Attention, and Conscious Attention Carlos Montemayor, Harry Haroutioun Haladjian, 2024-06-11 A rigorous analysis of current empirical and theoretical work supporting the argument that consciousness and attention are largely dissociated. In this book, Carlos Montemayor and Harry Haladjian consider the relationship between consciousness and attention. The cognitive mechanism of attention has often been compared to consciousness because attention and consciousness appear to share similar qualities. But Montemayor and Haladjian point out attention is defined functionally whereas consciousness is generally defined in terms of its phenomenal character without a clear functional purpose. They offer new insights and proposals about how best to understand and study the relationship between consciousness and attention by examining their functional aspects. The book's ultimate conclusion is that consciousness and attention are largely dissociated. Undertaking a rigorous analysis of current empirical and theoretical work on attention and consciousness, Montemayor and Haladjian propose a spectrum of dissociation, a framework that identifies the levels of dissociation between consciousness and attention ranging from identity to full dissociation. They argue that conscious attention, the focusing of attention on the contents of awareness, is constituted by overlapping but distinct processes of consciousness and attention. Conscious attention, they claim, evolved after the basic forms of attention, increasing access to the richest kinds of cognitive contents. Montemayor and Haladjian's goal is to help unify the study of consciousness and attention across the disciplines. A focused examination of conscious attention, they believe, will enable theoretical progress that will further our understanding of the human mind.

A Jungian Understanding of Symbolic Function and Forms Dominique Boukhabza, 2023-08-11 The purpose of this book is to clarify the function of the symbol and its place at the juncture of psychoanalysis and other social sciences where the singular and the collective intersect and whose laws are identical. The debate between Freud and Jung about the symbol is well known by examining the points of contradiction between their respective approaches; this book seeks to place them in fruitful tension rather than categorical opposition and explore their similarities and differences. In later chapters, the author further analyses the function of the symbol in relation to the topics of myth, anthropology, and dreams. This thoughtful book will appeal to those interested and involved in analytical psychology and psychoanalysis, as well as psychiatrists and psychologists.

The Road to Komatsubara Steven D. Carter, 2020-05-11 Carter attempts to reconstruct the classical reading of renga linked verse using extant rulebooks from the time approximating in every way possible the manner in which it was read in its own time and place. The result is a rare glimpse into the literary consciousness of the medieval Japanese that seems paradoxically modern in its insistence on the final indeterminacy of poetic meaning. Includes a full translation of the 1501 rulebook along with an annotated translation of a solo renga sequence composed in 1492 by Shaku's teacher and mentor Sogi.

On the Margins of Realism Ting Luo, 2025-03-31 Realism has been endowed with a certain orthodox status as the aesthetic counterpart of China s modernization and studies of Chinese film history have largely accepted a master narrative of realism as the guiding aesthetic of mainland Chinese cinema This book argues however that alternative aesthetics to realism have always existed in Chinese cinema throughout its history from the early silent era to the new century The alternative aesthetics are closely linked to the indigenous Chinese ontology of cinema namely shadowplay yingxi The author presents an alternative account through a close examination of four distinct visual narrative and stylistic devices or themes that recur in different periods of Chinese film history the dream representation the doubling of characters the device of self reflexivity and the allegorical construction of space By considering specific films and scenes as problematic sites where history politics and aesthetics collide this book also seeks to elucidate the relationship between cinema and the multifaceted experiences of Chinese
