Somewhere Deep Inside Francis Ferguson, 2014-01-24 A second severe nuclear accident occurs in the far west of a once-prosperous country now in the grip of deepening energy shortages. Linda decides it's time to get out of the Capital and finds herself trekking into the mountains to join a well-organized band of dissidents. They're friendly, but there's something about them she just can't put her finger on. The nuclear madness is a maze without an exit. If there's no way out, it is literally the end of humanity. Is there even room for another way to survive?

The Queer Biopic in the AIDS Era Laura Stamm, 2021-12-31 The Queer Biopic in the AIDS Era offers a new account of the AIDS crisis and the emergence of New Queer Cinema. Author Laura Stamm asks why queer filmmakers repeatedly produced biographical films of queer individuals living and dead throughout the years surrounding the AIDS crisis. Queer filmmakers' engagement with the biopic evokes the genre's history of building life through the portrayal of lives worthy of admiration and emulation, but it also points to another biopic history that of representing lives damaged. By portraying lives damaged by inconceivable loss, queer filmmakers challenge the illusion of a coherent self, presumably reinforced by the biopic genre, and in doing so, their films open the potential for new means of connection and relationality. The Queer Biopic in the AIDS Era features fresh readings of the cinema of Derek Jarman, John Greyson, Todd Haynes, Barbara Hammer, and Tom Kalin. By calling for a reappraisal of the queer biopic, this book also calls for a reappraisal of New Queer Cinema's legacy and its influence on contemporary queer film. As a whole, this book pays particular attention to the biopic's queer resonances, opening up its historical connections to projects of education, public health, and social hygiene, along with the production of a shared history and national identity.
