Computer Wimp:

Computer Wimp No More John Bear, David M. Pozerycki, 1992 John Bear's Computer Wimp was one of the most popular computer books of the 80s. But Bear insists he has learned a lot since he wrote it. This new book, written with advice and input from hundreds of readers of Computer Wimp, is the definitive guide for anyone who is thinking about buying a computer for home or office. You don't have to have a degree in computer science to enjoy this unique collection of funny stories, parodies, laughable true-life incidents, comic song lyrics, and jokey poems from the world of computing. Humour the Computer brings together a selection of some of the best computer-related humorous material culled from a variety of sources: news groups and FTP sites on the Internet, The New Yorker, Punch, New Scientist, BYTE, Datamation, Communications of the ACM, The Journal of Irreproducible Results, and many more. Among other topics, the 70 odd assorted writings embrace the impact of computing on our lives, hilarious hardware, silly software, first encounters with computing, computer companies that we love, programming pains, and absurd academia. Design Research in Information Systems Alan Hevner, Samir Chatterjee, 2010-06-14. It is 5 years since the publication of the seminal paper on Design Science in Information Systems Research by Hevner, March, Park, and Ram in MIS Quarterly and the initiation of the Information Technology and Systems department of the Communications of AIS. These events in 2004 are markers in the move of design science to the forefront of information systems research. A sufficient interval has elapsed since then to allow assessment of from where the field has come and where it should go. Design science research and behavioral science research started as dual tracks when IS was a young field. By the 1990s, the influx of behavioral scientists started to dominate the number of design scientists, and the field moved in that direction. By the early 2000s, design people were having difficulty publishing in mainline IS journals and in being tenured in many universities. Yes, an annual Workshop on Information Technology and Systems (WITS) was established in 1991 in conjunction with the International Conference on Information Systems (ICIS) and grew each year. But that was the extent of design science recognition. Fortunately, a revival is underway. By 2009, when this foreword was written, the fourth DESRIST conference has been held, and plans are afoot for the 2010 meeting. Design scientists regained respect and recognition in many venues where they previously had little. The Shape of
