Data Protection The New Law:

Data Protection in the Internet Dário Moura Vicente, Sofia de Vasconcelos Casimiro, 2019-12-01 This book identifies and explains the different national approaches to data protection the legal regulation of the collection storage transmission and use of information concerning identified or identifiable individuals and determines the extent to which they could be harmonised in the foreseeable future In recent years data protection has become a major concern in many countries as well as at supranational and international levels In fact the emergence of computing technologies that allow lower cost processing of increasing amounts of information associated with the advent and exponential use of the Internet and other communication networks and the widespread liberalization of the trans border flow of information have enabled the large scale collection and processing of personal data not only for scientific or commercial uses but also for political uses A growing number of governmental and private organizations now possess and use data processing in order to determine predict and influence individual behavior in all fields of human activity This inevitably entails new risks from the perspective of individual privacy but also other fundamental rights such as the right not to be discriminated against fair competition between commercial enterprises and the proper functioning of democratic institutions These phenomena have not been ignored from a legal point of view at the national supranational and international levels an increasing number of regulatory instruments including the European Union s General Data Protection Regulation applicable as of 25 May 2018 have been adopted with the purpose of preventing personal data misuse Nevertheless distinct national approaches still prevail in this domain notably those that separate the comprehensive and detailed protective rules adopted in Europe since the 1995 Directive on the processing of personal data from the more fragmented and liberal attitude of American courts and legislators in this respect In a globalized world in which personal data can instantly circulate and be used simultaneously in communications networks that are ubiquitous by nature these different national and regional approaches are a major source of legal conflict

Vulnerability and Data Protection Law Gianclaudio Malgieri, 2023-04-01 Vulnerability has traditionally been viewed through the lens of specific groups of people such as ethnic minorities children the elderly or people with disabilities With the rise of digital media our perceptions of vulnerable groups and individuals have been reshaped as new vulnerabilities and different vulnerable sub groups of users consumers citizens and data subjects emerge Vulnerability and Data Protection Law not only depicts these problems but offers the reader a detailed investigation of the concept of data subjects and a reconceptualization of the notion of vulnerability within the General Data Protection Regulation The regulation offers a forward facing set of tools that though largely underexplored are essential in rebalancing power asymmetries and mitigating induced vulnerabilities in the age of artificial intelligence Considering the new risks and potentialities of the digital market the new awareness about cognitive weaknesses and the new philosophical sensitivity about the condition of human vulnerability the author looks for a more general and layered definition of the data subject s vulnerability that goes beyond traditional labels In doing so he seeks to promote a vulnerability aware interpretation of the GDPR A heuristic analysis that re interprets the whole GDPR this work is essential for both scholars of data protection law and for policymakers looking to strengthen regulations and protect the data of vulnerable individuals

Health Data Pools Under European Data Protection and Competition Law Giulia Schneider,2022-04-13 This book explores the emerging economic reality of health data pools from the perspective of European Union policy and law The contractual sharing of health data for research purposes is giving rise to a free movement of research data which is strongly encouraged at European policy level within the Digital Single Market Strategy However it has also a strong impact on data subjects fundamental right to data protection and smaller businesses and research entities ability to carry out research and compete in innovation markets Accordingly the work questions under which conditions health data sharing is lawful under European data protection and competition law For these purposes the work addresses the following sub questions i which is the emerging innovation paradigm in digital health research ii how are health data pools addressed at European policy level iii do European data protection and competition law promote health data driven innovation objectives and how iv which are the limits posed by the two frameworks to the free pooling of health data The underlying assumption of the work is that both branches of European Union law are key regulatory tools for the creation of a common European health data space as envisaged in the Commissions 2020 European strategy for data It thus demonstrates that both European data protection law as defined under the General Data Protection Regulation and European competition law and policy set research enabling regimes regarding health data provided specific normative conditions are met From a further perspective both regulatory frameworks place external limits to the freedom to share or not share research valuable data
