The Ice Cream Social, 2004-01 After David Robbins achieved art world success with his photographic work Talent 1986 in which he depicted Cindy Sherman Jeff Koons Jenny Holzer and 15 other contemporary artists as entertainers he became progressively disenchanted with the art world and in 1996 returned to his hometown of Milwaukee Wisconsin to pursue what he termed alternatives to art The first of these was The Ice Cream Social 1993 2008 which had premiered in a Manhattan Baskin Robbins ice cream shop in 1993 and then over the next 15 years gradually expanded to include in Ice Cream Socials in Chicago Paris Tokyo London and Des Moines performance installation poetry painting a 2002 TV pilot for the Sundance Channel fridge magnets ceramic bowls and a novella In this witty novella originally published in 1998 and here re issued by JRP Ringier Robbins recounts the generative 1993 Manhattan event embedding it within a larger fiction that also includes the blueprint for the TV pilot realized later Updating the traditional small town American social ritual for contemporary audiences Robbins Ice Cream Social shared many of the strategies of those artists associated with Relational Aesthetics while at the same time pioneering what curator Hans Ulrich Obrist lauded as an expanded exhibition model Art vs. TV

Francesco Spampinato, 2021-12-02 While highlighting the prevailing role of television in Western societies Art vs TV maps and condenses a comprehensive history of the relationships of art and television With a particular focus on the link between reality and representation Francesco Spampinato analyzes video art works installations performances interventions and television programs made by contemporary artists as forms of resistance to and appropriation and parody of mainstream television The artists discussed belong to different generations those that emerged in the 1960s in association with art movements such as Pop Art Fluxus and Happening and those appearing on the scene in the 1980s whose work aimed at deconstructing media representation in line with postmodernist theories to those arriving in the 2000s an era in which through reality shows and the Internet anybody could potentially become a media personality and finally those active in the 2010s whose work reflects on how old media like television has definitively vaporized through the electronic highways of cyberspace These works and phenomena elicit a tension between art and television exposing an incongruence an impossibility not only to converge but at the very least to open up a dialogical exchange The Cute Sianne Ngai, 2022-08-02 A collection that tracks the astonishing impact of one vernacular aesthetic category the cute on postwar and contemporary art The Cute tracks the astonishing impact of a single aesthetic category on post war and contemporary art and on the vast range of cultural practices and discourses on which artists draw From robots and cat videos to ice cream socials The Cute explores the ramifications of an aesthetic of or about minoriness or what is perceived to be diminutive subordinate and above all unthreatening on the shifting forms and contents of art today This anthology is the first of its kind to show how contemporary artists have worked on and transformed the cute in ways that not only complexify its meaning but also reshape their own artistic practices Artists surveyed include Peggy Ahwesh Cosima Von Bonin Nayland Blake Paul Chan
