Arms Industry Limited:

Arms Industry Limited Herbert Wulf, 1993 Arms Industry Limited is an empirical account of the size and structure of the world arms industry with special case studies of the United States the former Soviet Union Canada countries in both Western and Central Europe and countries in the less developed world and in the Asia Pacific region The book describes the various strategies which arms producing companies have adopted in order to meet the challenges and commitments of the post cold war world Governments are in the process of restructuring national armed forces and revising military equipment procurement plans Military budgets are tighter in many parts of the world affecting national arms production and arms exports The most common company strategies are to reduce the size of the firm and lay off employees to mothball production facilities to transnationalize firms and to convert firms to non military production While there are counter pressures to a decrease in the production and export of arms in the future companies will probably have to reduce their production capacities and number of employees even further The strong international pressure on governments to regulate arms exports particularly since the 1991 Persian Gulf War is also examined by the international group of experts who have contributed the case studies in the volume Arms Trade and Europe Paul Cornish, 1995-03-12 Focusing on conventional weapons rather than nuclear biological and chemical ones this book draws attention to important differences within the EU between the trade in finished weapons and the technology used to make them It examines West European efforts since 1945 to manage both sides of conventional defence related trade and the political industrial technological and conceptual obstacles to effective multilateral co ordination and regulation The book argues that in current European and international circumstances recent EU initiatives have limited prospects and may prove to be counterproductive

Research Handbook on the Arms Trade Andrew T.H. Tan, 2020-12-25 This comprehensive Research Handbook examines the key drivers of the arms trade mapping the main trends in Asia Europe the Middle East Africa and Latin America It also explores the principal defence markets internationally including the US China India Russia and the UK in greater detail Treaty Compliance: Some Concerns and Remedies The Markland Group, Canadian Council on International Law, 2024-01-15 The Markland Group is a Canadian non governmental organization founded in 1987 by Douglas Scott It is composed of lawyers academics and other professionals with a special interest in the compliance aspects of disarmament treaties The Canadian Council on International Law was founded in 1972 to represent Canadian international law practitioners and academics and to facilitate and promote the study of international legal problems by scholars and professionals These two organizations joined forces in March 1995 to conduct a workshop on compliance a topic which they felt had received insufficient attention from the international legal community Thirty eight experts from Canada the United States and Great Britain were assembled for a series of meetings at the University of Toronto under the chairmanship of Walter Dorn and Christine Elwell Five of the papers presented at the workshop have since been edited expanded and updated for publication in this volume The papers analyse compliance measures under various treaties with particular attention being given to The Biological Weapons Convention the Chemical Weapons Convention the Nuclear Non Proliferation Treaty Safeguards Trade and Environment Compliance Measures and International Humanitarian Law Compliance and Enforcement Mechanisms and their potential impact on Arms Control and Disarmament Treaties The Markland Group and the CCIL believe that the study of treaty compliance methodology is still in its infancy The development of effective reliable and acceptable compliance systems is imperative particularly for treaties dealing with disarmament It is hoped that this volume will provide an impetus for enhanced study of this crucial issue Disarmament and Defence Industrial Adjustment in South Africa Peter G.

Batchelor, Susan Willett, 1998 Peter Batchelor and Susan Willett analyse the response of the South African defence industry to drastic cuts in military expenditure and the demilitarization of society since the end of the cold war and apartheid and the stabilization of the regional security situation The new ANC led government is seeking to use the resources released the peace dividend to restructure and revitalize the country's industrial base and to support reconstruction development and redistribution A lively debate on the country's security needs and strategic doctrine is under way As in other countries strategies of industrial diversification and conversion have met with limited success In the absence hitherto of any coherent government policy on defence industrial adjustment significant skills and technologies have been lost or wasted This book provides a historical analysis of South Africa's unique opportunity to develop new and innovative policies on defence and security matters the arms industry and arms exports and makes a valuable contribution to the international debate on the relationship between disarmament and development Managing Intercollective Conflict Anna J. Borgeryd, 1999-02 How does the state system measure up to today's realities when it comes to managing conflict To what extent are efforts to manage conflict successful and for whom Prevailing structures designed to deal with conflict between collectives sovereign states supported by militaries military industry and the United Nations operate mainly on principles that are hundreds of years old Conditions for conflict and its management have changed radically since this state system was constructed There is a risk that institutional inertia produces growing disparity between real world problems and the institutions that are supposed to manage them Realism and legalism are found to form a double ideological support for the state system The study compares the state system's realist and legalist premises to different cases of post cold war intercollective conflict the 1990-91 Gulf War the 1990-95 break up of Yugoslavia and the 1992 Los Angeles riots These cases present important challenges to the prevailing system's premises mismatches between idea and reality that are clearly connected to failures in conflict management In addition findings suggest that the state system not only fails to deal with important aspects of modern day conflict but that it increasingly produces problems that it cannot manage This suggests that the prevailing state system is not in harmony with crucial conflict related aspects of global impact indicating a serious systemic problem Encyclopedia of Violence, Peace, and Conflict, 2008-09-05 The 2nd edition of Encyclopedia of Violence Peace and Conflict provides timely and useful information about antagonism and reconciliation in all contexts of public and personal life Building on the highly regarded 1st edition 1999 and publishing at a time of seemingly inexorably increasing conflict and violent behaviour the world over the Encyclopedia is an essential reference for students and scholars working in the field of peace and conflict resolution studies and for those seeking to explore alternatives to violence and share visions and strategies for social justice and social change Covering topics as diverse as Arms Control Peace Movements Child Abuse Folklore Terrorism and Political Assassinations the Encyclopedia comprehensively addresses an extensive information area in 225 multi disciplinary cross referenced and authoritatively authored articles In his Preface to the 1st edition Editor in Chief Lester Kurtz wrote The problem of violence poses such a monumental challenge at the end of the 20th century that it is surprising we have addressed it so inadequately We have not made much progress in learning how to cooperate with one another more effectively or how to conduct our conflicts more peacefully Instead we have increased the lethality of our combat through revolutions in weapons technology and military training The Encyclopedia of Violence Peace and Conflict is designed to help us to take stock of our knowledge concerning these crucial phenomena Ten years on the need for an authoritative and cross disciplinary approach to the great issues of violence and peace seems greater than ever More than 200 authoritative multidisciplinary articles in a 3 volume set Many brand new articles alongside revised and updated content from the First Edition Article outline and glossary of key terms at the beginning of each article Entries arranged alphabetically for easy access Articles written by more than 200 eminent contributors from around the world

A Fraternity of Arms Robert Bowman Bruce, 2003 By the beginning of the twentieth century the United States had already become an international power and a recognized force at sea but its army remained little more than a frontier constabulary In fact when America finally entered

World War I the U S Army was still only a tenth the size of the smallest of the major European forces While most previous work on America s participation in the Great War has focused on alliance with Great Britain Robert Bruce argues that the impact of the Franco American relationship was of far greater significance He makes a convincing case that the French rather than the British were the main military partner of the United States in its brief but decisive participation in the war and that France deserves much credit for America s emergence as a world military power In this important new look at the First World War Bruce reveals how two countries established a close and respectful relationship marking the first time since the American Revolution that the United States had waged war as a member of a military coalition While General Pershing s American Expeditionary Forces did much to buoy French morale and military operations France reciprocated by training over 80 percent of all American army divisions sent to Europe providing most of their artillery and tanks and even commanding them in combat As Bruce discloses virtually every military engagement in which the AEF participated was a Franco American operation He provides significant new material on all major battles not only the decisive Second Battle of the Marne but also St Mihiel Cantigny Reims Soissons and other engagements detailing the key contributions of this coalition to the final defeat of Imperial Germany Throughout the book he also demonstrates that there was a mutual bond of affection not only between French and American soldiers but between the French and American people as well with roots planted deep in the democratic ideal By revealing the overlooked importance of this crucial alliance A Fraternity of Arms provides new insights not only into World War I but into coalition war making as well Contrary to the popular belief that relations between France and the United States have been tenuous or tendentious at best Bruce reminds us that less than a century ago French and American soldiers fought side by side in a common cause not just as allies and brothers in arms but as true friends

Combined Arms Warfare in the Twentieth Century Jonathan Mallory House,2001 For centuries the world has witnessed the development and use of increasingly complex and powerful military systems and technologies In the process the art of war has truly become the art of combined arms warfare in which infantry artillery air support intelligence and other key elements are all coordinated for maximum effect Nowhere has this trend been more visible than in the history of twentieth century warfare Originally published as an essential in house study for U S Army officers during the 1980s this much revised and expanded edition remains the most complete study available on the subject Rewritten with a much wider readership in mind it both retains its enormous practical utility for military professionals and provides a valuable and appealing introduction for scholars and general readers Jonathan House author of the original work brings the story of combined arms up to the present covering among other things Desert Storm the war in Chechnya and the rise of smart weapons and related technologies He traces the evolution of tactics weapons and organization in five major militaries American British German Russian and French over 100 years of warfare Revealing both continuities and contrasts within and between these fighting forces he also provides illuminating glimpses of Israeli and Japanese contributions to combined arms doctrine Expanding his insightful analysis of the world wars and the wars in Korea and Vietnam House also offers much new material focused on the post Vietnam period Throughout he analyzes such issues as command and control problems of highly centralized organizations the development of special operations forces advances in weapons technology including ballistic and anti ballistic missile systems the trade offs involved in using heavy versus light armed forces and the enduring obstacles to effective cooperation between air and land forces His strong critique of the air superiority propaganda that came out of the Gulf War is sure to spark some heated debates Rigorously comparative House s study addresses significant questions about how nations prepare for war learn or don t learn its harsh lessons and adapt to changing times and technologies Unique in the annals of the literature on warfare it will be the standard work on this subject for a long time to come

The Causes of Decay in a British Industry "Artifex," pseud,1907 The Law Times Reports ,1908 The End of Military Fordism Mary Kaldor,Ulrich Albrecht,Genevieve Scheder,1998-04-22 Part of a 2 volume analysis written by a team of key experts from around the world this text studies the changes taking place within the military sector The conclusion is that there has been little in the way of a peace dividend

Chambers's Journal ,1915 The Ironmonger ,1889 Global Insecurity Mary Kaldor,2000 In the aftermath of the Cold War it was hoped that the international community could begin to act cohesively in defence of human rights and to prevent conflict The actual sobering experience of the period is examined here
