

Arms & Equipment Guide Extras!

By Jeff Grubb

There are innumerable companies, corporations, mercantiles, and trade groups within the galaxy, providing myriad goods and services to uncountable sentient. The vast majority of these are confined to one planet, system, or sector of space, and are effectively local operations, their grasp limited and their products (truthfully or not) viewed as substandard. Against this tapestry of lesser lights, there are a number of powerful manufacturers whose names are known to every consumer. The following list provides some background for these manufacturers.

Major Manufacturers

Most of the manufacturers of equipment here have transcended petty local dealings and are now pan-sector corporate giants, having established trade relations with hundreds of systems either directly or through distribution and franchises.

Arakyd Industries

Fields: Weapons, droids

Well-Known Products: Mark VI Inquisitor Seeker

Arakyd Industries was a strong supporter of Palpatine and grew in power during the years of the Empire. It is best known for non-humanoid droids, as it values functionality over appearance. Its work in jet-based propulsion for its droids has allowed it to expand into jet- and rocketpacks. Since the Galactic Civil War, Arakyd has sold its products without concern of political background, but many in the New Republic remember the company as a fervent supporter of the Empire.

Ayelix/Krongbing Textiles (A/KT)

Fields: Uniforms, armor

Well-known Products: Blast Vest and Helmet, Tuff1 Combat jumpsuit

A major corporation that concentrates its efforts in clothing, A/KT was formed in the days of the Old Republic of a merger of Ayelixe Fabricos and the larger, struggling Krongbing Interstellar Fashions. Studiously neutral to the point that its employee regulations prevent membership in a political party, Ayelixe/Krongbing sells uniforms to most organized military forces in the galaxy, often supplying both sides in a conflict. It also maintains a thriving consumer division, both with specialized survival clothing and planetary fashion trends.

Baktoid Armor Workshop (BAW)

Fields: Assault weapons, droids

Well-Known Products: Trade Federation Battle droid, AAT battle tank, MTT troop transport A powerful corporation in the time of the Old Republic, Baktoid was the chief arms supplier for the Trade Federation, responsible for various types of battle droids as well as heavy assault vehicles seen in the assault on Naboo. BAW has a reputation for encouraging insurrection and supplying dubious buyers. By the time of the Empire, Baktoid Armor Workshop was a shell of its former self, though its equipment was still available, particularly on the Outer Rim.

BioTech Industries

Fields: Medical equipment

Well-Known Products: Fastflesh Medpac, RFX/K Medisensor

A co-operative venture of Neuro-Saav and the Tagge Company, BioTech has become one of the galaxy's top medical and cybernetic manufacturers, trailing behind only Chiewab. BioTech has led the way in biotechnological implants but is best known to galactic consumers for its medpacs and medical scanners. While not able to break the stranglehold of Bacta manufacturers like Zaltin, nor to compete in the area of medical droids, it covers just about everything else.

BiasTech Industries

Fields: Weapons

Well-Known Products: DH-17 Blaster Pistol, E-11 Blaster Rifle

The market leader in personal energy weapons and light artillery, BiasTech also makes starship weaponry, laser and ion cannons, and missiles. The corporation has benefited from the rise of Palpatine's Empire, and its weaponry has become standard issue for the Empire's stormtroopers. Despite this, the corporation has proved to be extremely even-handed in its dealings, and its weapons are ubiquitous throughout the civilized reaches of the galaxy.

Chiewab Amalgamated Pharmaceuticals Company

Fields: Medical equipment, chemicals

Well-Known Products: Glis Emergency Medpac

A powerful chemical corporation, Chiewab owns over 600 systems outright and is the leader in the biotechnological field. Its strength is in chemistry and electronics, and it excels in this over its leading competitor, BioTech. Aggressive in its research and development,
