Open access and collaboration in research. Barriers to collaboration in academic publishing Anna Severin,2019-08-30 Academic Paper from the year 2016 in the subject Book Science grade 1 0 University of Sussex language English abstract This paper aims to review the scholarly literature offering criticism on the concept of open access OA publishing in particular with regards to the effect of OA on researcher s collaborative working Relevant literature is critically reviewed with the aim of identifying barriers to collaboration in academic publishing and as to what degree OA can mediate these OA relates to research outputs that are free of any restrictions on access such as subscription walls and free of any restrictions on use and re use of research outputs such as copyright and license restrictions Some scholars regard OA as a helpful tool for fostering collaborative work amongst researchers Observing that scientific problems have become more complex and require a joint effort these scholars argue that knowledge creation and dissemination could be more efficient if scientists worked together The core requirement for collaboration among researchers is commonly identified as their ability to share information freely

Student-Led Peer

Review Kimberly A. Lowe, Liv Cummins, Summer Ray Clark, Bill Porter, Lisa Spitz, 2023-07-03 Student led peer review can be a powerful learning experience for both giver and receiver developing evaluative judgment critical thinking and collaborative skills that are highly transferable across disciplines and professions Its success depends on purposeful planning and scaffolding to promote student ownership of the process With intentional and consistent implementation peer review can engage students in course content and promote deep learning while also increasing the efficiency and effectiveness of faculty assessment Based on the authors extensive experience and research this book provides a practical introduction to the key principles steps and strategies to implement student peer review sometimes referred to as peer critique or workshopping It addresses common challenges that faculty and students encounter The authors offer an easy to follow and rigorously tested three part protocol to use before during and after a peer review session and advice on adapting each step to individual courses The process is applicable across all disciplines content types and modalities face to face and online synchronous and asynchronous Instructors can guide students in peer review in one course across two or more courses that are team taught or across programs or curriculums When instructors students and university stakeholders create a culture of peer review it enhances learning benefits for students and allows faculty to share pedagogical resources Student peer review is a high impact pedagogy that is easily implemented inculcates lifelong learning skills in students and relieves the assessment burden on faculty as students collaborate to improve their own work Making Teaching Community Property Pat Hutchings, 2023-07-03 Describes strategies through which faculty can document and go public with their teaching be it for purposes of improvement or evaluation Each of nine chapters features a different strategy from the fairly simple low risk teaching circle to course portfolios to more formal departmental occasions such as faculty hiring with reports by faculty who have actually tried each strategy guidelines for good practice and an annotated list of resources Networked Collaborative Learning Guglielmo Trentin, 2010-01-20 Aims to outline major elements related to the sustainability of Networked Collaborative Learning NCL After comparing NCL with other Technology Enhanced Learning TEL approaches and discussing the possible reasons for adopting it this work proposes a multidimensional model for the sustainability of NCL Is it Better to Give Or to Receive? Nancy M. Trautmann, 2006 Collaborative Learning Kenneth A. Bruffee, 1999-01-13 Advocates a far reaching change in the relations between college and university professors and their students between the learned and the learning Collaboration Management Haydn Shaughnessy, 1994-04-05 Examines the need for organizational restructuring towards multinational project based teams and management which recognizes the necessity for collaboration between commercial organizations in order to prosper in the new political and cultural environment of the European Community and European Free Trade Association areas Issues in Collaborative Practice Jean E.
