A Humument Tom Phillips, 1997 Artist Tom Phillips combines fiction word and image using a Victorian novel he found by chance as a starting point for other possible stories scenes poems erotic incidents and surrealist catastrophes This limited edition contains over 50 new pages and a print signed by the artist Abstraction in Post-War British Literature 1945-1980 Natalie Ferris, 2022-03-29 In a catalogue note for the 1965 exhibition Between Poetry and Painting at the Institute of Contemporary Arts the poet Edwin Morgan probed the relationship between abstraction and literature Abstract painting can often satisfy but abstract poetry can only exist in inverted commas Language may be fragmented rearranged or distorted abstract in so far as it is withdrawn from a particular system of knowledge but Morgan was of the mind that to be wholly disruptive was to deprive a poem of its point as an object of contemplation Whilst abstract art may have come to fulfil or fortify an impression of post war taste abstraction in literature continued to be treated with suspicion But how does this speak to the extent to which Britain's literary culture was responsive to progress compared to its artistic culture Abstraction in Post War British Literature 1945 1980 traces a line of literary experimentation in post war British literature that was prompted by the aesthetic philosophical and theoretical demands of abstraction Spanning the period 1945 to 1980 it observes the ways in which certain aesthetic advancements initiated new forms of literary expression to posit a new genealogy of interdisciplinary practice in Britain At a time in which Britain became conscious of its evolving identity within an increasingly globalised context this study accounts for the range of Continental and Transatlantic influences in order to more accurately locate the networks at play Exploring the contributions made by individuals such as Herbert Read Ian Hamilton Finlay and Christine Brooke Rose as well as by groups of practitioners It brings a wide range of previously unexplored archival material into the public domain and offers a comprehensive account of the evolving status of abstraction across cultural institutional and literary contexts Writing Machines N. Katherine Hayles, 2002 A pseudo autobiographical exploration of the artistic and cultural impact of the transformation of the print book to its electronic incarnations The Dual Muse Lorin Cuoco, 1999 For centuries an artist adept in one medium has found solace encouragement and inspiration in another even to the point of merging them Michelangelo put down his chisel to pick up his pen Blake pictorialized his poetry Max Ernst collaged narratives Gertrude Stein adopted a cubist style This bicameral interplay of the verbal and pictorial has never been more pronounced than in our own time The Dual Muse explores a range of creative interrelationships between the visual arts and literary media in works by selected modern and contemporary artists and authors Scripting Reading Motions Manuel Portela, 2013-09-13 In this work Manuel Portela explores the expressive use of book forms and programmable media in experimental works of both print and electronic literature and finds a self conscious play with the dynamics of reading and writing Imagining Language Jed Rasula, Steve McCaffery, 2001 When works such as Joyce's Finnegans Wake and Stein's Tender Buttons were first introduced they went so far beyond prevailing linguistic standards that they were widely considered unreadable if not scandalous Jed Rasula and Steve McCaffery take these and other examples of twentieth century avant garde writing as the starting point for a collection of writings that demonstrates a continuum of creative conjecture on language from antiquity to the present The anthology which spans three millennia generally bypasses chronology in order to illuminate unexpected congruities between seemingly discordant materials Together the writings celebrate the scope and prodigality of linguistic speculation in the West going back to the pre Socratics
