

Barter

Life has loveliness to sell,
All beautiful and splendid things,
Blue waves whitened on a cliff,
Soaring fire that sways and sings,
And children's faces looking up,
Holding wonder like a cup.

Life has loveliness to sell,

Music like the curve of gold,
Scent of pine trees in the rain,
Eyes that love you, arms that hold,
And for your spirit's still delight,
Holy thoughts that star the night.

Spend all you have for loveliness,
Buy it and never count the cost;

For one white singing hour of peace
Count many a year of strife well lost,
And for a breath of ecstasy
Give all you have been, or could be.

Barter Poems:

Barter Ira Sadoff, 2003-02-12 Ira Sadoff's new volume of poems opens with a quotation from Rilke. But because truly being here is so much because everything here apparently needs us, the fleeting world which in some strange way keeps calling us. The poetry collected here is a response to this call. Rooted firmly in the fleeting world, Sadoff's poems find epiphanies of meaning in unexpected and even unpleasant experiences and emotions. The poems in Barter delve deeply into the past, the personal past of regret, travel, love, divorce, and bereavement, as well as the global past of Beethoven, Vietnam, and the fall of communism. Each poem is offered up by Sadoff as a barter, something to be traded for a little more time, a little more understanding. The poems in Barter comment on the power of culture to interject itself into our desire for an idealized self, the way our inner and outer lives lack correspondence, harmony, and integration. They also talk about commerce, the trading of bodies, the way we as a nation use and exchange, and appropriate and like Tolstoy's Ivan Ilyich try to bargain with and evade the urgency of our time on earth. In the poem Self Portrait with a Critic, Sadoff makes what could be a succinct statement of purpose: "And inside let's not make it pretty, let's save the off-rhyme and onomatopoeia for the concert hall, let's go to the wormy place where the problematic stirs inside his head." Barter Monica Youn, 2003-05 Barter exchanges history for myth, direct speech for epistles, activity for observation, breathtaking. Claudia Rankine's Felix the Rat's hind feet could be Barbie hands, same pink, same injection, molded, seaming from Electronica. The poems in Barter Monica Youn's exciting first collection negotiate transactions between scarcity and excess, pornography and abstraction, the thing and the thing seen. Rendered with a dazzling array of structures and allusions, these poems describe and become a strange gallery of paintings and portraits. She offers a Polaroid left on a windshield, step by step instructions for Drawing for Absolute Beginners, a stereoscope with a box of slides. Both an homage to and a warning against nonexistent things, Barter introduces a vibrant new voice and a new way of seeing. In Someone Else's House Christian Barter, 2013 Poetry With an astonishing and enjoyable range of references from antiquity to recent nostalgia and current popular culture, Barter's poems reflect on such varied themes as friendship, love, mortality, war, and the Middle East, the environment, and life as a single man. Bye-Bye Land Christian Barter, 2017-05-22 Winner of the Isabella Gardner Award, this book-length poem is a collection of voices in dialogue, overheard, remembered, internal, that represents the mind at work as it considers the destructiveness of humanity, the hypocrisy bred in the bones of American venture. Voices from personal conversations, political speeches, Guantanamo detainees, news, and poets fill these pages, capturing a world of disrupted beauty and unrealized potential. The Singers I Prefer Christian Barter, 2005 Trained as a musician and composer, Barter's poems are driven by the rhythm and lyricism, punctuated with occasional dissonances that startle the reader with profound perceptions hidden within deceptively straightforward melodies. Whether exploring the misadventures of youth or the petty defeats of encroaching middle age, Barter evokes the bittersweet feeling of being sad in the deep, sweet way that gods are sad for all that will never be.
