Divine Discontent James Guthrie, 2015-06-26 Excerpt from Divine Discontent Our praise of content is too idle Among arduous days we set up this ideal of rest our own desires far too tempestuous to let us be at such a haven and circumstances too busy with our lives So it is no foolish notion that contentment sets a limit upon meaner ambitions and gives room in the world for nobler The man who beholds little of life believes there is no more A child still radiant with the trail of glory adventures only upon the path of innocence snug and content with food and warmth and sleep securely shut from the hurt which is knowledge within his mother's arms About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
