Application Of Pesticides To Crops:

Application Of Pesticides To Crops Graham A Matthews, 1999-11-10 Pesticides continue to provide an important tool in integrated pest management IPM programmes. Hitherto IPM programmes have had a strong bias towards insect control but farmers need to control weeds, plant pathogens and other pest problems. This book follows the author's successful pesticide application methods by relating the equipment needs to the overall pest control requirements of major crops. It outlines the pest problems against which farmers are using pesticides and focusses on the details of the application techniques they need to optimise pesticide use. Much attention is now being given to genetically modified crops but these do not necessarily avoid the use of pesticides. Some are engineered to be resistant to certain herbicides so the use of these herbicides will still require careful application in order to minimise environmental side effects. Similarly crops engineered for resistance to certain insect pest species may remain susceptible to other pests thus emphasising the need for crop monitoring and careful use of any chemicals to avoid disrupting biological control.
