The Scottish Book Trade, 1500-1720 Alastair J. Mann,2000-12-12 This volume examines the Scottish book trade from c 1500 to c 1720 looking at booksellers bookbinders stationers and printers and their relationship to the forces of authority The scale of the Scottish book trade in this period was surprisingly large consisting of over 150 printers and over 400 booksellers but its rate of growth was not constant as it was buffeted by the winds of economic and political circumstances It is the public not private world of book dissemination that is examined Emphasis is placed more on supply than on demand It is shown that the unique qualities of the printed book with its blend of commerce and technology on the one hand and intellect and ideology on the other ensured that authority burghs church government crown and executive and law courts reacted with a complex response of liberty and prohibition So it was for all nations experiencing the arrival of printing but Scotland had its own particular range of dynamics a distinct Scottish tradition

Scholars, Travellers and Trade R. B. Halbertsma,2004-06-02 Today the National Museum of Antiquities in Leiden is internationally known for its outstanding archaeological collections Yet its origins lie in an insignificant assortment of artefacts used for study by Leiden University How did this transformation come about Ruurd Halbertsma has delved into the archives to show that the appointment of Caspar Reuven as Professor of Archaeology in 1818 was the crucial turning point He tells the dramatic story of Reuven's struggle to establish the museum with battles against rival scholars red tape and the Dutch attitude of neglect towards archaeological monuments This book throws new light on the process of creating a national museum and the difficulties of convincing society of the value of the past
