THE JOY AND PAIN OF BEING ALONE

Joanne Wieland-Burston

Contemporary Solitude

Richard Holt Hutton

Contemporary Solitude:

Contemporary Solitude Joanne Wieland-Burston, 1996 This text by Jungian analyst Wieland Burston explores the powerful contradictory facets of our need and fear of solitude Solitude can be a nourishment and a hunger we need it and suffer from it and seek and avoid it at different times in our lives Concepts of personal existential solitude are examined through a theoretical and historical framework from biblical references of Jesus going into the wilderness through to the heroic solitude of the romantic movement from Nietzsche's Superman standing alone to the modern urban experience of the collapse of community and the fracturing of the traditional family unit the author illustrates the search and retreat into solitude with case histories to show that while we need to be comfortable in being alone it is equally important to understand that by using solitude as a block to relating we may block the process of development Psychologists students and cognitive scientists may find this of value

The Zombie in Contemporary French Caribbean Fiction Lucy Swanson, 2023-02-15 Believed to have emerged in the French Caribbean based on African spirit beliefs the zombie represents not merely the walking dead but also a walking embodiment of the region's history and culture In Haiti today the zombie serves as an enduring memory of enslavement it is defined as a reanimated body robbed of part of its soul forced to work in sugarcane fields In Martinique and Guadeloupe the zombie takes the form of a shape shifting evil spirit and represents the dangers posed to the maroon or freedom runner The Zombie in Contemporary French Caribbean Fiction is the first book length study of the literary zombie in recent fiction from the region It examines how this symbol of the enslaved and of the evil spirits that threaten them is used to represent and critique new socio political situations in the Caribbean It also offers a comprehensive and focused examination of the ways contemporary authors from Haiti and the French Antilles contribute to the global zombie imaginary identifying four avatars of the zombie the slave the trauma victim the horde and the popular zombie that appear frequently in fiction and anthropology exploring how works by celebrated and popular authors reimagine these archetypes
