Shaping Wise Futures ,2021-10-25 We are poised at a crossroads between a past that is outgrown and a future we must choose This book examines the multiple ways that wisdom grounded in life experience science and theoretical knowledge can contribute to positive and sustainable local and global futures The authors in this book have brought their thinking to various aspects of this existential challenge using the lenses of Wisdom and Wise Practice in an effort to explore ideas by which society might make choices in planning and acting for a wiser future Wisdom practices have developed over millennia to assist people in approaching and managing life experiences and difficulties While such practices were originally considered the purview of academic and religious scholars at this important time in history it must become everyone's responsibility to wisely look ahead if we are to achieve a sustainable future for society. The authors of this book comprise international future-oriented leaders, scholars, practitioners, community members, and commentators with a commitment to social justice, human service, and development. The book explores the place of wisdom and wise living practices alongside other ways of knowing and acting for shaping positive futures for people and the world we inhabit. The chapters examine major challenges across political, physical, and social life worlds, aiming to promote a quantum shift in discourse and decision making to address current and future challenges. The four parts of the book follow: forward thinking ideas of wise professional practice; Facing future challenges; Exploring practice pathways; Examining options and Future possibilities.

The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2005 Gerontology Kenneth F. Ferraro, 1990 An introduction to theoretical and empirical research with chapters written by experts from many disciplines. Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc. Portland, OR.

Promoting Healthy Aging Ann C. Beckingham, 1993 Emerging Issues of Population Aging in Asia and the Pacific, 1989 Gerontological Social Work Ilene Nathanson, Terry Tirrito, 1998 In this book the authors present their innovative conceptual framework for task-centered social work practice with older adults. This integrative model clearly illustrates how practitioners and students can incorporate social work practices in different organizational settings and practice arenas including psychiatric health services, religious, political, legal, occupational, and more. Information on communication skills and the authors' stimulating case studies make this an ideal text for undergraduate and graduate social work programs in gerontology.

Nursing Care of the Aging Client Evelyn Clark Gioiella, Catherine Waechter Bevil, 1985 Current Index to Journals in Education, 2000-04 Neurogerontology James F. Willott, 1999-07-25 Neurogerontology tells the story of how the aging brain affects all aspects of cognition and physical performance. It comprehensively links the principles and substance of neuroscience with gerontology and psychology. Written largely from a behavioral neuroscience perspective, Neurogerontology explores the functional relationships between the central nervous system and psychological phenomena of aging, including perception, arousal, learning, cognition, and motor behavior. Willot emphasizes healthy aging, but dementia and other pathological conditions are discussed when relevant. This evidence-based approach to the neuroscience of aging makes this a valuable reference for professionals as well as an informative textbook for students in gerontology courses.

Where Do We Come From? What are We? Where are We Going? Donna Polisar, 1988 Health Promotion and Aging David Haber, 1994 Current Practice in Gerontological Nursing, 1979 GeroPsychology Rocío Fernández Ballesteros, 2007 In this outstanding book, leading experts from throughout Europe provide a fascinating overview of the most important psychological research into aging, with special emphasis on training and professional issues as well as science. In terms of its population, Europe is the oldest continent in the world, thus placing European research into the effects and implications of an aging population in a unique position. As this book shows, the aging of the population should be considered a positive phenomenon that reflects sociopolitical, educational, biomedical and psychological development The real threat for our population is not aging but disability and the challenge for the 21st century is to reduce dependency and disability and thus improve well being and quality of life rather than increasing life expectancy The recent United Nations 2nd International Plan of Action on Aging and its Research Agenda on Aging for the 21st Century as well as policies of the European Federation of Psychologists Associations tell us that psychology and psychologists will play an essential part in meeting this challenge This book shows how
