Context-responsive Approaches to Assessing Children's Language Jessie A. Roderick,1991 Classroom-Based Evaluation in Second Language Education Fred Genesee,John A. Upshur,1996-08-13 This non technical text guides foreign and second language educators in the use of classroom based assessment Language Arts Pamela J. Farris,Donna E. Werderich,2019-01-08 From the first edition to the latest Language Arts Process Product and Assessment for Diverse Classrooms has presented sound language arts theory and methodology in a nonthreatening straightforward manner at a reasonable price Coverage focuses on the 2017 Standards for Literacy Professionals Each chapter identifies and addresses the standards applicable to that chapter s topics Farris and Werderich infuse their foundational guidelines with the latest research teaching practices and assessment and evaluation techniques Ideas for lesson plans use of technological applications internet resources and comprehensive up to date listings of children s young adult and multicultural fiction and nonfiction titles are among the text s outstanding features Other features geared expressly for pre and inservice teachers include Engaging real life classroom anecdotes Instructional activities for reading writing listening speaking viewing and visually representing Boxes containing teaching hints and mini lessons Section on Response to Intervention RtI with the various tiers of intervention Theories instruction and teaching activities for English language learners ELLs Guidelines to meet the needs of special needs learners Suggestions for literacy based interdisciplinary instruction including STEM and STEAM Examples of children s work to help readers understand what to expect from different ages and ability levels Questions and assignments to strengthen readers aptitude awareness and application of topics to real life Thinking and Literacy Carolyn N. Hedley,Patricia Antonacci,Mitchell Rabinowitz,2013-11-05 This volume explores higher level critical and creative thinking as well as reflective decision making and problem solving what teachers should emphasize when teaching literacy across the curriculum Focusing on how to encourage learners to become independent thinking learning and communicating participants in home school and community environments this book is concerned with integrated learning in a curriculum of inclusion It emphasizes how to provide a curriculum for students where they are socially interactive personally reflective and academically informed Contributors are authorities on such topics as cognition and learning classroom climates knowledge bases of the curriculum the use of technology strategic reading and learning imagery and analogy as a source of creative thinking the nature of motivation the affective domain in learning cognitive apprenticeships conceptual development across the disciplines thinking through the use of literature the impact of the media on thinking the nature of the new classroom developing the ability to read words the bilingual multicultural learner crosscultural literacy and reaching the special learner The applications of higher level thought to classroom contexts and materials are provided so that experienced teacher educators and psychologists are able to implement some of the abstractions that are frequently dealt with in texts on cognition Theoretical constructs are grounded in educational experience giving the volume a practical dimension Finally appropriate concerns regarding the new media hypertext bilingualism and multiculturalism as they reflect variation in cognitive experience within the contexts of learning are presented

Leadership of Assessment, Inclusion, and Learning Shelleyann Scott, Donald E. Scott, Charles F. Webber, 2015-10-20 This book provides pragmatic strategies and models for student assessment and ameliorates the heightened sense of confusion that too many educators and leaders experience around the complexities associated with assessment In particular it offers guidance to school and district personnel charged with fair and appropriate assessment of students who represent a wide variety of abilities and cultures Chapters focus on issues that directly impact the educational lives of teachers students parents and caregivers Importantly the confluence of assessment practices and community expectations also are highlighted Assessment is highly politicised in contemporary society and this book will both confirm and challenge readers beliefs and practices Indeed discerning readers will understand that the chapters offer them a bridge from many established assessment paradigms to pragmatic ethical solutions that align with current expectations for schools and districts In Part One readers engage with concepts and skills needed by school learning leaders to guide optimal assessment practices Part Two delves into student assessment within and across disciplines Part Three provides pragmatic approaches that address assessment in the context of inclusive intercultural education pluralism and globalisation

Reading Research Into the Year 2000 Anne P. Sweet, Judith I. Anderson, 2013-12-16 Through the years research on reading has made enormous contributions to helping us understand how students learn to read and how teachers can best instruct them Research continues to add to our fundamental knowledge of reading in significant ways thus adding more pieces to the puzzle for example finding answers to how students learn content in other school subjects through reading and what strategies teachers can use to help their students do this more effectively Reading Research into the Year 2000 describes the dynamic process that the Department of Education engages in to plan and execute a reading research agenda It was written to inform a wide ranging public those who will benefit directly or indirectly from reading research findings including those who use research applications as well as those who conduct the research Moreover it was written to make public the process of establishing a national R D Center Few people outside the Department of Education are aware of the procedures that are undertaken The editors believe that if more people are in the know they will be more likely to participate in the entire process from generating research ideas to submitting applications and that this greater participation is essential if we are to garner divergent thinking about how to solve critical education research issues They have made a significant step toward breaking down barriers to full participation and paved the way for greater involvement of non traditional players in competing for a national R D Center award

Literacy as a Moral Imperative Rebecca Powell, 1999 In this important new book on literacy and teaching practices education scholar and former schoolteacher Rebecca Powell argues that the decisions we make about literacy in a pluralistic society are fundamentally moral ones either supporting inequitable power relationships or seeking to transform them Powell explores the underlying ideological assumptions of Oschooled literacyO and examines the ways teaching practices create tensions in the lives of students tensions that often result in alienation and educational failure particularly among those whose cultural knowledge and language tends to be marginalized in our nationOs schools While primarily ground in critical theory this volume also draws from multicultural and holistic perspectives in the teaching of written and oral language and addresses the link between whole language and critical pedagogy Thus the text is both theoretical and practical Powell effectively argues that literacy instruction should encourage social responsibility and civic action should enable students and teachers to understand the transformative potential of language and should nurture a culture of compassion and care

Assessment Lois Bridges Bird,1995 Every learning event is an opportunity for assessment Effective teaching begins with knowing your students and assessment is a learning tool that enables you to know them Indeed the real power of continuous assessment is that it informs your teaching and helps you decide what to do next Teacher and researcher Lois Bridges helps you understand your students developmental needs and their interests and concerns She writes As teachers learners and evaluators we strive to document as richly and thoughtfully as possible our students learning To that end we need to use an array of assessment tools from a variety of perspectives This book provides a wide range of teacher developed kid watching and assessment forms to show different ways to reflect on children s work It offers developmental checklists student and child interview suggestions guidelines for using portfolios rubrics and self evaluation profiles Also included are Dialogues that invite reflection Shop talks that offer lively reviews of the best and latest professional literature and Teacher To Teacher Field Notes offering tips from practicing educators Lois identifies five perspectives on assessment to think about when designing your own assessments Monitoring You ll want to keep track of your students learning experiences through checklists inventories and class lists Your students can also account for their learning day through journal entries self reflective narratives and tracking sheets Observing Valuable information can be gained about each student just by observing and listening What to record and techniques for recording the information are suggested Interacting You ll learn successful techniques to interact with your students to listen and to ask questions that nudge them toward examination of their own thinking Analyzing The fourth assessment perspective centers on collecting and analyzing the artifacts of your students learning Reporting You will get help in organizing the assessment data you collect to share with parents administrators and others beyond the classroom door As you continuously evaluate and monitor your students learning using a variety of assessment tools you can design instruction and create curriculum that will stretch your students knowledge and expand their learning worlds
