1997 Christopher Harper-Bill,1998 Making Time for the Past Katherine Clarke,2008-03-20 This book has two main and connected themes the conception and articulation of time in the Greek world and the creation of history especially in the context of the Greek city Both how time is expressed and how the past is presented have often been seen as reflections of society By looking at the construction of the past through the medium of local historiography where we can view these issues in the relatively restricted world of individual city states we can gain a clearer insight into how different versions of the past and different constructions of time were offered to the community for approval In this way the citizens were able to negotiate time past and indeed their own history and thereby to express their values and aspirations The Blackwell Dictionary of Historians John Cannon,William Doyle,Jack P. Contributions in English French and German Ancient History and the Antiquarian Michael Hewson Crawford, C. R. Ligota, 1995 Arnaldo Momigliano was convinced that all disciplines need to be aware of their own history His famous lecture Ancient History and the Antiquarian delivered in 1949 at the Warburg Institute and published in 1950 in the Journal of the Warburg and Courtauld Institutes has become a landmark In it he showed how historiography had been changed by the recognition that what historians had left out of the record could be put back by the antiquarians He argued that a comprehensive interest in the vestiges of ancient civilization beginning in the Renaissance and refined and enlarged during the 17th 18th and 19th centuries made a rigid distinction between historical and antiquarian studies unjustifiable furthermore the standards set by the antiquarians in the understanding and interpretation of the past still have relevance
