Web is in itself a concrete technological framework for ontology based metadata. For example Web based social networking requires metadata describing people and their interrelations and large databases with biological information use complex and detailed metadata schemas for more precise and informed search strategies. There is a wide diversity in the languages and idioms used for providing meta descriptions from simple structured text in metadata schemas to formal annotations using ontologies and the technologies for storing sharing and exploiting meta descriptions are also diverse and evolve rapidly. In addition there is a proliferation of schemas and standards related to metadata resulting in a complex and moving technological landscape hence the need for specialized knowledge and skills in this area. The Handbook of Metadata Semantics and Ontologies is intended as an authoritative reference for students practitioners and researchers serving as a roadmap for the variety of metadata schemas and ontologies available in a number of key domain areas including culture biology education healthcare engineering and library science.

Practical Aspects of Declarative Languages Gopal Gupta, 2003-05-20. Declarative languages have traditionally been regarded by the mainstream computing community as too impractical to be put to practical use. At the same time traditional conferences devoted to declarative languages do not have issues related to practice as their central focus. Thus there are few forums devoted to discussion of practical aspects and implications of newly discovered results and techniques related to declarative languages. The goal of the First International Workshop on Practical Aspects of Declarative Languages PADL is to bring together researchers practitioners and implementors of declarative languages to discuss practical issues and practical implications of their research results. The workshop was held in San Antonio Texas during January 18 19 1999. This volume contains its proceedings. Fifty three papers were submitted in response to the call for papers. These papers were written by authors belonging to twenty one countries from six continents. Each paper was assigned to at least two referees for reviewing. Twenty four papers were finally selected for presentation at the workshop. Many good papers could not be included due to the limited duration of the workshop. The workshop included invited talks by Mark Hayden of DEC Compaq Systems Research Center speaking on Experiences Building Distributed Systems in ML and Mark Wallace of Imperial College Center for Planning and Resource Control IC PARC speaking on ECLiPSe Declarative Specification and Scalable Implementation.
